Important Suit under the General Banking Law.

Our financial and business readers will find the details of an important suit under our General Banking Law, now pending in the Supreme Court at Springfield, in the Money article on the fourth page.

Dr. Guthrie's Sermon.

As many persons are desirous to see the sermon of Dr. Guthrie, of which so much has been said in this community during the present week, we give it entire this morning on the third page. It is a production of rare ability, a model in style, apposite in illustration, and warmed throughout with the fervor of a truly Christian spirit. Should the controversy between certain of our clergy respecting an assumed identity of this discourse and the one preached in Metropolitan Hall, lead to its general perusal, good cannot fail to grow out of what many good people are disposed to regard as a serious calamity.

The Republican Ticket for the Judicial Election.

The proceedings of the Republican Convention yesterday will be found in another column. The County was fully represented, and the attendance of citizens, almost filling the hall of the Mechanics' Institute, indicated that the choice of the Republican party was the choice of the people. The two gentlemen nominated for Judges—Messrs. Van H. Higgins and Grant Goodrich—are widely known as among the ablest lawyers and purest men in the State. Their elevation to the Bench, which is now made a certainty, will sustain in the fullest degree the high character of the judiciary of Chicago. The objection raised in some quarters against political nominations for judicial offices, as against them, falls to the ground. They will be elected by the largest vote ever cast in the county at a Judicial election.

The candidates of the Convention for Deputy Clerks, are men of ability, fidelity and zeal for the Republican cause. The contest for the nominations was unusually spirited, but the unsuccessful aspirants submitted gracefully to the decision of the party. Those who fancy that a cross fire can be started inside the Republican phalanx will be admirably disappointed when the polls are opened.

The Ohio Treasury Defalcation.

The Ohio papers come to us filled with the Report of the Committee appointed by the Legislature to investigate the great defalcation of Breslin, former Democratic State Treasurer, whereby the State lost three quarters of a million dollars.

The Report makes some twenty four newspaper colums of small type, and would make a book of 150 pages.

The Committee consisted of A. P. Edgerton, Chas. Reemlin and W. D. Morgan. They have been taking testimony for the last six months. Edgerton visited Canada where he had an interview with the great defaulter, and from him learned many particulars. He asserts that his defalcation is $150,000 less than is alleged—claiming that it is only $552,000! He admits that he employed the public moneys in various private speculations, and gave the following reason for it:

"It is due to myself to say, that during my terms of office I had constant apprehensions of some, to me, undefinable and undiscovered errors in my accounts, holding me to greater liability than I believe justly devolving upon me. To provide against a contingency of loss or trouble from this source, hoping, at the same time, and laboring to discover whatever wrong could exist, I was induced to make investments, in the success of which I trusted to provide for all official liabilities which might ever be presented against me."

The reader will smile at this excuse.

Breslin refuses to account for $200,000 of the abstracted funds, but promises that he will in the future. In regard to this part of his account he says:

"Having accounted thus far for a portion of the deficiency charged to me, it is due to others, as I believe it will be promotive of the security of the State, to decline, for the present, to make any additional disclosures concerning the $200,000 of the alleged deficiency.

I intend that every thing in relation thereto shall be communicated to the public, and the evidences of the amounts of the assets delivered over. This I will do the first moment I can without needlessly and unjustifiably connecting parties with the Treasury, whose names should in no manner be connected therewith, and who are in no way responsible for any portion of the defalcation.

The Democrats have stoutly asserted that Gibson, the Republican Treasurer, was as deeply implicated in the defalcation as Breslin. But Breslin entirely absolves him. He declares:

"It is proper to say, that in the reservation here made, I do not, in any manner, include Mr. Gibson. It is further due to him to say, without qualification in any respect, that he is in no manner responsible for the deficiency that occurred during my terms of office; nor was he apprised of my difficulties until some time after he became Treasurer. Upon the discovery of them, up to the present time, he has evinced the most zealous disposition to aid me in every possible way to do full justice to the State."

In accounting for the conversion of the public funds, he divulges the names of various parties to whom he loaned money. $40,000 was invested in the Akron Railroad, which became insolvent, and the money was lost. Some $50,000 was deposited with the City Bank of Cincinnati, and was lost when that rotten institution failed. He is exceedingly bitter upon Reznor, its president, whom he charges with having deceived and swindled him under the most dishonorable circumstances. His predecessor, Albert A. Bliss, had also, it seems, been converting the public moneys to his private use. He induced Breslin to accept a certificate of deposit from W. E. Chittenden, banker, New York, for $48,464, which was never cashed; but in lieu of money he compromised the amount by taking various notes and stocks for it. He says:

"Mr. Chittenden protested he could give me no better security than the following:

Note of Robert J. Walker	$5 202.15
Note of E. Peck, New York	3 [illegible] 00
Note of J. B. Doe, Janesville, Wisconsin	4 000 00
Note of A. Hyatt Smith, Janesville, Wisconsin	5 000.00
Note of [illegible]	5 2[illegible]2.15
Note of J. P. Eastman, Chicago	5 202 15
Draft of J. G. Camp on J. P. Reznor	5,000 00
Note of J. E. Beebe	750 00
Total	$33,356.00

"After the maturing of these notes, none having been paid, and time adding nothing to the probability of improvement in their value, I proceeded to sue such of the parties as seemed indifferent to the payment of their obligations.

"Mr. Robert J. Walker, declaring his inability to pay his note, and learning that with moneyed men the same was considered to be of very doubtful value, I received from him, in lieu of his note, through an agent, $7,000 worth of the stock of the "Chicago Land Company,"—the certificate for which I shall, as speedily as possible, place in the possession of the Attorney General. The claim against Eastman for the balance due on his note, is in the hands of Col. R. B. Carpenter, Attorney, Chicago, Illinois, whose receipt I herewith deliver. The receipts of Messrs. Finch & Lynde, of Milwaukee, for the judgments against A. Hyatt Smith & J. B. Doe, and the receipt of Messrs. Eldridge & Pease, of Janesville, Wisconsin, are also herewith presented."

He had $21,000 invested in the Central Bank of Indiana, which is in a mixed condition. Also $12,565 is claimed to be due him from I. Waggoner, president of the Tiffin Bank. The Elkhart County Bank, Indiana, he says, owes him $26,611. He admits losing $8,000 in the Cumberland (Md.) Bank. The Sandusky and Norwalk Railroad borrowed $17,500 from him, and afterwards became insolvent. One John G. Camp, who seems to have enjoyed his confidence to a remarkable degree, gouged him to a large amount. The Piqua and Indiana Railroad got $20,000 out of him which has never been repaid. Cones, of the Kanawha (Va.) Bank got in to a considerable amount and is likely to continue so. He invested $75 000 in some Tennessee Wild Cat banks, which seem to be a permanent investment. He holds their bills for that amount, which he offers to turn out to the Attorney-General. He carried for the Sullivants of Columbus some $50,000 for four years before he could get them to repay it. But we have not space for further details this morning.

He admits owning 800 acres of land in Livingston County, Illinois. A few tracts in Minnesota, 30 lots in Omaha, Nebraska, and more in Kansas. A house and lot in Tiffin, Ohio, and a few small pieces of wild land.

There is great curiosity in Ohio to find out who has got the $200,000, which he refuses to explain. He is very anxious to have the indictment against him withdrawn, and a responsible guarantee given him that he will not be criminally prosecuted. If this is done, he promises to do everything in his power to refund the money, and to divulge everything.

Opening of the Canal.

We learn by a dispatch from J. B. Preston, Canal Superintendent at Lockport, that the canal will be opened on the 17th for boats drawing four feet and four inches or less.

A Small Fiction.

One or more of the Democratic candidates for the Superior Court have started a rumor that the Constitution prohibits any member of the Legislature from accepting another office during the time for which he was elected. The only clause in the Constitution which can be construed to apply to this contingency is found in section 7, of article III, which is as follows:

"No person elected to the General Assembly shall receive any civil appointment within this State, or to the Senate of the United States, from the Governor, the Governor and Senate, or from the General Assembly, during the term for which he shall have been elected."

We presume it will not be contended that the election by the people of a judge or clerk of the Superior Court, is an "appointment from the "Governor, the Governor and the Senate, or "from the General Assembly."

Destructive Fire at Appleton, Wisconsin.

We learn by an extra issued by the Appleton Crescent, that the paper mill, three saw-mills, a chair factory, rake factory, two turning mills and a bedstead factory, at the village of Appleton, Wisconsin, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday afternoon. The destruction of property by this fire is estimated at sixteen thousand dollars, and the loss falls heavily upon the owners, as there was no insurance on any of the property. A considerable portion of the machinery from the paper mill was saved in a damaged condition. The mill was owned by Messrs. Richmond, whose loss was about $6,000. It was by far the most important establishment on the Appleton Water Power, and gave employment to a large number of hands.

The Kane County Murder Case.

[Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.]

GENEVA, March 11, 1859.

John Brannon, who was convicted of murder in this county in December last, and who was sentenced to be hung on the 18th of February, but respited by Gov. Bissell until the 30th of March on the presumption that he was insane, was brought before the Court on the 10th, at the request of the Governor, to have a jury determine the question of his insanity. Dr. Cheeney, Dr. Paoli, Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Davis, Mr. Tenbroeck and Mr. Luben, all of your city, testified that from their knowledge of his case, they believed Brannon to be insane, and also that his case was becoming more confirmed every day. Under these facts, the jury brought in a verdict that the prisoner was insane, and he will thus escape the gallows. A. T. D.

The St. Nicholas Compact.

The N. Y. Evening Post of the 9th inst. has the following upon the reasons impelling Mr. Moran to give the notice to the competing lines spoken of elsewhere in this paper:

It appears that fresh ill feeling has sprung up among the parties to the St. Nicholas Compact, and circumstances point to lively times during the spring and summer, as there is seemingly little disposition on the part of the New York roads to preserve the agreement. It was supposed, after the prompt understanding that was secured at the late conference in this city, that remunerative rates would be maintained, inasmuch as the representatives of the New York Central Road assured the other lines that they would compel the Hudson River Road to observe the compact in every particular or cut them off.

This, it seems, has not been thoroughly carried out, the Hudson River line allowing, as before, drawbacks to Express Companies, which amounts to a reduction of 5 cents on the agreed rates, and Mr. Moran consequently has signified his intention to withdraw from the agreement in ten days, if the agrievance be not removed. Such a notice on the part of the Erie Company, at this time, is looked upon by several of the parties in interest, as a design to influence to its benefit new restrictions and arrangements contemplated at the Buffalo Convention, to be held on the 16th inst.

The frequent quarrels to which this compact has given rise, are beginning to be regarded as abundant reason for its dissolution, and the revival of competition. The public certainly would be large gainers thereby, whatever the loss to the companies."

Latest from the Gold Mines.

[From the Lawrence Kansas Republican.]

The following late news from the gold mines comes to us through the politeness of Mr. O'Donnell, of this city:

EL PASO, Jan. 26, 1859.

EDS. LAWRENCE REPUBLICAN:—Allow me a small space in your paper, for the purpose of giving my friends what information I am possessed of up to date. In a former letter, directed to one of my friends in Lawrence, I made mention of finding new diggings. At the time of writing, I was unable to give authentic information regarding the extent of these diggings. Since then we have been following the same vein or lead some eight miles farther toward the mountains, and have been well repaid for our time and expenses. At the present time, it is nothing uncommon to find lumps weighing from ten to fifteen dollars. The course of the vein leads directly on to the town site of El Paso, following the course of a ravine that runs directly through the town. A man by the name of J. H. Mershon, of Chicago, who is erecting a saw mill on said ravine, adjoining the town-site, has suspended his work, expecting that the miners, in tracing the lead, will undermine his mill. Considerable feeling is already manifested between Mershon and the miners, as to their right to damage him without proper remuneration. A committee has been appointed by the citizens to adjust the matter in some way, and to save collision.

The people are flocking to that point from all directions, and already there are some 600 men at work in the diggings. Speculation, of course, is rife, and town shares are changing hands rapidly.

The weather is pleasant, and the miners are in high spirits. The tide of immigration is already coming in. Last week, a company of California miners, consisting of forty men and ten women, arrived. They all looked hale and hearty, after their tedious journey. They are putting up their cabins, preparatory to spring operations. A party have also arrived from Nebraska, coming the Smoky Hill route, which they report as quite passable. There are but two routes that the immigration can pass over, the coming season, with any degree of safety; first, the Smoky Hill route; second, the Arkansas route. Which is preferable, I am unable to say.

I have already used up more paper than I intended when I commenced, but I am in hopes that I may be the means of saving my friends some time and money—and that is inducement enough for me. Respectfully yours,

J. M. McCORMICK.

Southern Minnesota Railroad.

A very few days more will complete the grading, driving, &c., of the first division 20 miles) of the Southern Minnesota Railroad. We learn from Mr. Wells, President of the road, that it is the intention of the Company to lay the track and have the cars running to Rushford, (30 miles,) by the 1st of September next. We have no doubt that the shrill whistle of the locomotive will awake the echoes of the hills and valleys of old Houston before another summer shall have come and gone.—La Crescent Banner 8th.

THE LA CRESCENT BANNER.—This is the title of a new paper from the thriving town of La Crescent, Minnesota. It gives promise of excellence, in all things save its politics, which are moderately "Democratic." Minnesota is decidedly a bad soil for the growth of the article. The Banner has, however, our best wishes for success in every other respect. The town itself is admirably located, with prospects, in our judgment, superior to any new town on the Mississippi.

☞ The Georgia Constitutionalist says that the railroads of that State have been doing a very profitable business this season. An instance is given in the net earnings of the Southwestern Railroad, which, for the past six months, were $188,654 or at the rate of $31,475 per month or over $1,000 per day net profits.

☞ The Jasper (Iowa) Free Press of the 3d says a letter has been received in that town, from Spirit Lake, which states that the Indians have been concentrating near the Lake—that the settlers were in danger, and a requisition would be made for more troops.

Attempt to Burn the Boston State House.

BOSTON, March 11.—A diabolical attempt was made this afternoon at 3 o'clock, to set fire to the State House by firing a large bin filled with shavings, in the basement. When the alarm was given, and during the confusion, two suspicious looking persons attempted to force their way into the coal room assigned for members. The smoke filled the whole building. The Senate took a recess and the House suspended business for a short time. Both Houses were filled with spectators and members at the time, and the excitement was very great.

The fire was extinguished without much damage, but there is no doubt that it was purposely set.

Lake Schooner for Europe.

MILWAUKEE, March 11.—The schooner M. S. Scott has been purchased by parties here, who intend to load her at once, and send her to Hamburg, as soon as the lakes are open. It will take them about fifteen days to load, and they hope to reach salt water by the 15th of May. They will probably bring back a return cargo, and will perhaps carry over and back a few German passengers. Capt. Nelson Hand will be master of the vessel.

Cook County Republican Judicial Convention.

The Cook County Republican Judicial Convention, met on Tuesday afternoon, the 11th inst., at the hall of the Mechanics' Institute. The Convention was a very full one, every Ward and town being represented.

LAKE VIEW.—Ebenezer Peck.

CICERO.—Geo. Scoville.

A communication was handed to the chairman by Julian S. Rumsey, Esq., of the County Central Committee, from the Democratic Executive Committee, deprecating the practice of making party nominations for judicial officers—which has been previously referred to in our columns. It was accompanied by a reply from the chairman of the County Central Committee, stating that it would be presented to the Convention. On motion, both documents were laid on the table.

Dr. John Evans moved that the Convention go into an informal ballot for one Judge, which was carried, and Alonzo Harvey, Andrew Akin and Orrington Lunt were appointed tellers.

INFORMAL BALLOT.

Whole number of votes	139
Van H Higgins had	76
Grant Goodrich	33
E. S. William	18
G. B. Waite	5
Scattering	7—139

The Convention, on motion, proceeded to the

FIRST BALLOT.

Whole number of votes	142
Van H Higgins	89
Grant Goodrich	45
E. S. Williams	1
G. B. Waite	1
J. W. Chickering	1—142

It was then unanimously resolved that VAN H. HIGGINS be the unanimous nominee of the Convention for Judge of the Superior. The vote was greeted with enthusiastic applause.

The Convention then proceeded to a formal ballot for a second Candidate for Judge of the Superior Court, with the following result:

Whole number of votes	135
Grant Goodrich had	71
E. S. Williams	50
G. B. Waite	5
J. W. Chickering	6
W. S. Burgess	3—135

The resolution declaring Grant Goodrich the unanimous choice of the Convention was adopted, with applause.

The nomination of a Clerk of the Superior Court being next in order, a formal ballot was had, and resulted as follows:

BALLOT FOR CLERK.

Whole number of votes	140
Gasper Butz	70
Herman Kreismann	62
Scattering	8—140

There being no choice, a second vote was taken, with the following result, the ballot being by resolution confined to the two highest candidates.

SECOND BALLOT.

Whole number of votes	139
Gasper Butz had	72
Herman Kreismann	66
Scattering	1—139

This ballot was carried on amid the greatest excitement, and the result was greeted with tremendous applause by the friends of the successful candidate. A resolution to make the nomination unanimous was adopted, with a few dissents.

The Convention then went into a formal ballot for a second candidate for Clerk of the Superior Court. The following was the result of the

FIRST BALLOT.

Whole number of votes	137
U. R. Hawley had	33
Isaac Speer	30
James L. Abbott	19
James L. Wilson	17
Rufus A. Rice	11
J. H. Huguin	9
Wm. P. DeWolf	9
H. R. Sheldon	8
W. W. Danenhower	3
Scattering	8—137

There being no choice, a second ballot was called for and a resolution passed that the ballot be confined to the five highest candidates.

SECOND BALLOT.

Whole number of votes	138
U. R Hawley	51
Isaac Speer	38
James L. Wilson	24
J. . Abbott	17
Rufus H. Rice	6
Scattering	3—138

There still being no choice a third ballot was called for, the candidates being confined to the three highest on the above vote.

THIRD BALLOT.

Whole number of votes	141
Isaac Speer had	56
U. R. Hawley	55
James L. Wilson	30—141

No choice.

FOURTH BALLOT.

Whole number of votes	134
U. R. Hawley had	68
Isaac Speer	66—134

And U. R. HAWLEY was declared the candidate for Clerk of the Superior Court.

The Convention then adjourned.

DEDICATION SERVICES.—By reference to the notice of the trustees of the South Presbyterian Church, published in another column, it will be seen that the new church edifice on the corner of Edina Place and Jackson street, is to be opened for divine worship to-morrow. The dedication services will be conducted in the morning at half past ten, by Rev. R. W. Henry, and in the afternoon and evening at the usual hour by Rev. Dr. L. H. Long. From our knowledge of these reverend divines we can promise our readers who may attend on this interesting occasion a rich intellectual treat.

THE RUNAWAY GONE HOME.—Mrs. Martel, who ran away from Rockford a few days since with her husband's hired man, Jones, left with her husband and children for their home, a day or two since. Mrs. Martel says that the letter found upon Jones was written by another girl in Rockford to a young man; that she found it, and thinking it suited her case, she sent it to Jones. Mr. Jones after settling the affair left the city by the first train for parts unknown.

KINDLING WOOD.—Our energetic friend of the City Kindling Wood Company, says he has a large quantity of dry pine kindlings, which he will be glad to deliver to customers for the moderate sum of $1 a load. All orders left at Norris & Hyde's, corner of Dearborn and Washington streets, will meet with prompt attention.

LECTURES TO LADIES.—The fourth of the present course of Mrs. Markham Wheeler's lectures before the ladies of the North Side at the New England Church, corner of Indiana and Wolcott streets, will be given this afternoon at half past two o'clock. Subject—Heart and Lungs—Circulation and Respiration.

THE STATE-STREET TRAGEDY.

TRIAL OF FRANCIS BUSCH FOR THE MURDER OF JAMES MAGEE.

At Chicago, August 13th, 1858.

COOK COUNTY COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, FEBRUARY TERM, 1859. JUDGE JOHN M. WILSON PRESIDING.

FIFTH DAY.

The trial of this case, which has been in progress since Monday, has attracted considerable attention, especially among the friends of the parties, the prisoner and deceased, who have in very considerable numbers and with very considerable traces of feeling watched the proceedings, crowding the court room each day. The prisoner—Francis Busch—has been daily attended by his father.

No evidence was introduced by the prosecution, it will be remembered, as to the right of property, upon which the dispute occasioning this unhappy occurrence took place, while on the other hand the defence have given the same a marked prominence, and for reasons that will be apparent.

George W. Snow, sworn.—Stated as to the corners established on his property on State street—the block in the School Section next north of that where this affair took place.

Asa G. Bradley, sworn.—Am a Surveyor and Civil Engineer of twenty-three years' standing; know the School Section; have known the corners Mr. Snow speaks of for twenty-two years; have always regarded them as representing the original survey of Mr. Wooley; was County Surveyor for twelve years, or from '37—the year of the charter—to '49; I was the second City Surveyor; know the act of 1842 to legalize the plat of the School Section on record; the Common Council authorized me to go on and re-survey the section, and re-establish the corners; I went on and did so; it was found the first survey was made with a chain a trifle too long—longer than the U. S. standard; all the old corners were revived, but were set back thirty-three feet for the street; I gave 396 feet for each block, and 66 feet for streets; I used red cedar stakes; I recognized and used Mr. Snow's corner on Jackson street; measuring from Mr. Snow's corner to the stone monument on Adams street, gives 396 feet, with 66 feet for the street; I surveyed for Mr. Busch, five or six weeks ago, measuring south from Van Buren street to the building on the north side of Van Buren 297 feet, one foot surplus in the block; across Van Buren street eleven (11) inches minus, the street that much too narrow; but giving the street 66 feet there—what the records call for—and giving Mr. Boggs all he claims, he is still five (5) inches and a half on Mr. Busch with his wall; on the theory of giving the street a full width, the wall is eleven inches and a half on Mr. Busch; from the best and most favorable data I can find, as a Surveyor, the wall of Mr. Boggs is over five inches on Mr. Busch; these last surveys I found and used the old land marks; I have watched them for twenty-one years, and know them to be accurate.

Cross examined.—Starting at the southwest corner of Van Buren and State and thence southward, Mr. Boggs would be from 10 to 11 inches on Mr. Busch; I was sent for the U. S. standard at Detroit in 1847; could not use it because the original survey was with a longer chain; applying the U.S. standard to this case, Mr. Boggs is a trespasser on Mr. Busch seven (7) feet; at the Jackson street corner I found the corner by testing from offsets of my own; I found a foot surplus in that block, two feet in the next block north, and three in the next north; Van Buren street is 10 1 2 or 11 inches too narrow; the block is a double block, no street opened; there are two (2) feet surplus; the best I can do by Mr. Boggs is to place his block five inches and a half on Busch; commencing at corner of Harrison and State streets and surveying north it would give Mr. Boggs the right to go south on Mr. Busch still one foot; I established this corner myself.

S. S. Greeley sworn.—Have been city surveyor for two years past; have made surveys of the property of Mr. Busch; found the south line of Mr. Boggs seven (7) inches further than I should have located, giving Mr. Boggs his full claim.

Cross examined.—In this last survey I retraced the survey I made in 1856; started from the supposed northeast corner of block 138; from the supposed corners of Van Buren and Harrison, the double block, each block has six inches surplus.

Asa F. Bradley recalled.—[Mr. Blackwell, of the defence, read the act of 1843, by which the re-survey of the School Section was authorized; [illegible] the plat of the same was ordered to be duly certified to as recorded.]

First came to Chicago in June, 1836; knew Jedediah Wooley, who made the original survey; in my re-survey I got his description of the survey stakes, &c., and made my survey to correspond with his; it did not correspond with Government measure; a fraction was thrown into south; the original corner is a stone buried by Canal Commissioners in 1836.

James G. Roddy sworn—Have worked 18 months for Mr. Clogher, and two years for Mr. Greeley, both city surveyors; my measurement places Mr. Boggs' building nine inches on Mr. Busch.

Michael McDermot sworn—Made a survey in 1852 of the west side of State street, under Mr. Clogher; found the stone monuments at corners; from Madison street corner of State ran a line to Bull's Head as a base line; as governed by and following Wooley's survey of same, Boggs' south line is 8 feet 75 100 too far south; on "Bailey's survey" Boggs is 9 feet 15-100 on Busch. In 1852 north of line north of Busch's building, No. 292 State street, Von Horn's line, as spoken of, marked by three nails in sidewalk; these were 1 foot and 1-10 north of the line; taking these as as a basis, Boggs is now 7 inches and 3-10ths. Running the line on Van Buren street I find a final result of 10½ inches encroachment by Boggs. On Snow's basis the encroachment is 9 3 10 inches; with north side of Van Buren street as a starting point it is 10 7 10; with the south side of same street as a starting point the encroachment is 11 16 100; taking the line from Adams street it is one (1) foot and 13 100 encroachment on Busch.

The maps and diagrams referred to by this and preceding witnesses were all put in evidence by the defence; also plans and diagrams of the premises.

Mrs. Mary Rohm sworn—Live at No. 292 State street; we lived there when the shooting of Magee took place; we moved there two years ago in May; my husband rents of Mr. Busch; we have six children; we keep boarders, and did at that time; know Francis Busch, the defendant; I was in the bar-room that day when he came back from the Armory; my husband and another man were with him; knew Mr. Boggs; they were tearing the wall down; there are two windows in the dining room towards Mr. Boggs' house. (Nicholas Berdel was here sworn as interpreter.) Heard Francis say to Mr. Boggs, "You do wrong to injure my property;" they talked some more, but I did not understand exactly; heard Francis tell him several times to stop, also tell the men to stop; heard a man tell him to "go home, Dutchman;" heard Francis tell the man on the ladder to "stop—I tell you, stop;" the man drove a nail, and made faces at Francis; the man then began to drive another nail; Francis stamped his foot and told him to stop; the man then drew up his hatchet and said, "Go home, Dutchman;" that instant Francis fired; he was about four feet from the man; I was at the window; I was at the window nearest to State street; I was leaning out of the window.

By this witness the defence established the point, that on the night previous to the assault, the tenants, the Rohms, went to Busch, and told him they should move out if the house was to be torn down. That Busch told them he should be there and not let them be disturbed; that there was six inches clear belonging to him, and that Boggs could not touch the house.

Miss Adaline Rohm, sworn—Am 13 years old; daughter of last witness; saw my mother at the window when the pistol was fired.

Abner Vilano, sworn—Was on the sidewalk when the pistol was fired; had heard Francis urge the men to stop, as he would pay their wages till the thing was settled; saw Francis speaking to the man on the ladder; heard him stamp his foot and tell him to stop; the man turned and made a face at him, and raised the hatchet; heard the shot, and the hatchet dropped.

The succeeding witnesses were Fred. Bechstern, Ernst Leopold, Matthew Deidrich, and Wm. Leight, who were successively called as eye-witnesses of the affair.

Adjourned to 9 A. M. to-day. The testimony will probably be closed this forenoon.

I. O. O. F.—We understand that the Odd Fellows of Chicago intend having a grand celebration in this city on the 26th of April next—it being the 40th anniversary of the order in this country. The R. W. G. L. of the U. S. at their last session recommended that this day be set apart as a national anniversary. They are making extensive preparation for a large turn out here, and have invited the lodges from the different parts of the State to join with them.

PICTURES.—A series of beautiful views, accompanied by letter press descriptions of Niagara Falls, Edinburgh, London, and many other noted places, have been received by McNally & Co., 81 Dearborn street. The Banner of Light for this week, containing verbatim reports of the latest sermons by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and Rev. E. H. Chapin, has also been received by McNally.

REV. HENRY GILES.—It will be seen by advertisement that Rev. Henry Giles will deliver a lecture on the "Mental and Moral Character of the Irish," at the Hall of the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening next. The high reputation of the lecturer, and the rather novel subject upon which he will speak, will no doubt attract a large attendance.

JOHN G. SAXE.—On account of the very unpleasant state of the weather when Mr. Saxe delivered his popular lecture on Love in this city, a few weeks ago, he has, at the request of many of his friends, consented to repeat it at Metropolitan Hall on Tuesday evening next.

SONS OF MALTA.—A special meeting of the Sons will be held this evening at headquarters, corner of Wells and South Water streets. Matters of importance. Let there be a full attendance.

☞ A special meeting of the Board of Managers of the City Tract and Missionary Society, will be held in the Lecture Room of the First Baptist Church, this (Saturday) afternoon, at 4 o'clock. The meeting is called to have a report from the Finance and Publication Committees.

LOCAL MATTERS.

☞ Professor John Baptist Smit, nineteen years of age, born with a natural gift in the city of Montreal, Canada, will call the attention of the citizens of Chicago that he can cure all kinds of Rheumatism and all other diseases instantly, without the use of medicine and without pain. He is expected to stop but a short time, and if any person or persons afflicted with such diseases will please call on Professor Smit, where they will find immediate relieve. Such an opportunity is rarely met with. It is a great curiosity to see him work. Many have almost been raised from the dead can testify to his miraculous powers of healing all diseases. Office—No. 199 Washington street, Chicago.

Lines Not Working.

TELEGRAPH OFFICE, CHICAGO, March 11, 9 P. M.

Editors Press and Tribune:

Owing to the storm to-day, the wires east and south are all out of order. We will not be able to get any report to-night. REPORTER.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

Arrival of the North Briton.

PORTLAND, Me., March 11.—The steamship North Briton, from Liverpool 23d ult., arrived at 5 o'clock this morning. She reports having been detained by head winds. Passed the Canada from Boston for Halifax and Liverpool yesterday, and the City of Manchester, from New York for Liverpool, a few days ago. Most of her advices have been anticipated by the Arabia.

SPAIN.—The Spanish Chamber of Deputies had granted extraordinary credits for strengthening the fortifications at Mahon, Ferrol and other places. The exiles left Cadis on the 19th on board an American frigate, name not mentioned. One hundred deputies at the Cortez had declared in favor of free trade to corn and cotton.

ITALY.—The Duchess of Parma has signed the treaty with Austria, authorizing the latter power to occupy all the ports in her dominions with troops, in case of hostilities. Trade at Milan was completely stagnated. Large numbers of troops, deserters from the Austrian army, had crossed the Piedmontese frontiers. It is asserted that official dispatches from Cardinal Antonelli to the Cabinet at Vienna declared that no reception can be accorded to any representations from foreign governments at all referring to the domestic government of the State and the Church.

SARDINIA.—The Senate adopted a bill for the loan of of 5,000,000 francs by a vote of fifty-nine to seven.

AUSTRIA.—Austria is steadily preparing for the defence of her Italian possessions. The garrison at Venice is fully prepared to march at short notice.

There is great activity at the Arsenal at Venice, where hospital and army bakeries had been established. Gun boats had been placed at the mouth of the river Po, and the garrison at Ferrera reinforced.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The to-day confirmed the nomination of Murry Cohalon as Collector of Erie, Pa.; J. M. Vancleve as District Attorney for Washington Territory, and Andrew J. Thayer as District Attorney for Oregon.

Judge [illegible] has not to day resigned the office of Commissioner of Patents. Had he done so while the Senate was in session, there would have been a legal necessity for the immediate appointment of his successor, for which the President is not yet prepared.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Hon. R. H. Gillett, long connected with the Law Department of the Government, has published an argument to show that the revenue of the Post Office establishment can be applied after June next to pay for transporting the mails and other expenses of the Department, notwithstanding the failure of the Post Office Appropriation bill.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The Tribune's Washington correspondent says, the vacant office of Commissioner of Patents has been offered to Mr. Hughes, ex member of Congress from Indiana, and Governor Denver, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, has resigned, and will return to California. Col. Mix, chief clerk of the Indian Department, is spoken of as his successor.

The Herald's correspondent says the Senate yesterday confirmed the following appointments: C. W. Bradley and A. E. Roberts, residing in China, commissioners under the China treaty to settle claims; Mr. McDuffey, of California, Superintendent of Indian Affairs; H. V. King, postmaster at Middletown, Penn.

Two Persons Smothered in a Coal Pit.

CLEVELAND, March 11.—On Wednesday afternoon two men named Davis and Wooley, met with a horrible death in a coal pit near the line of the Cleveland & Mahoning Railroad at Brier Hill. The pit belongs to Col. D. Tod, and is 230 feet deep. The two men were at the bottom of the pit, when the fire damp caught from the candles on their hats. The unfortunate men attempted to escape, but were almost immediately smothered. One was found on the ladder about ten steps from the bottom, and the other about five steps, both dead. Davis leaves a wife and four children. Wooley was not married.

Ship Abandoned at Sea.

Charles Holt, from the Chinceas, reports having spoken on the 5th of February the ship Carolus, bound to Hampton Roads with the Captain, officers and crew of the ship Civilian, abandoned off Cape Horn.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED Stomach Bitters have, by merit of their tonic and other medicinal virtues, acquired a celebrity and popularity heretofore unknown. This fact has induced unprincipled parties here and elsewhere to counterfeit and imitate the preparation, and palm it off to the unsuspecting [illegible] unprincipled dealers who will retail it upon the reputation of the genuine article, thus not only endangering health and life by the use of this vile mixture thus sold, but are robbing the pocket also. The most prominent operator in this nefarious business thus far brought to our notice, is a fellow by the name of Clark, who prepares the mixture and refills Hostetter's empty bottles which are relabeled with counterfeit and spurious labels, and the cork covered with tin-foil; thus they are sold. C. H. Beckwith, No. 101 Water street, we find as a large dealer in this counterfeit article, which could not be sold at any price were it not for the genuine Hostetter's Bitters. We caution the public to dodge these impostors and see our advertising columns for the names of respectable merchants and druggists for the genuine article. The genuine Hostetter Stomach Bitters have the name impressed in the glass of the bottle, also in the cap covering the cork, and the label bear the autograph of "Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburg, Pa."

CARD—TO THE PUBLIC.

The above defamatory article has appeared some days in the Chicago Daily Tribune. Late on Saturday afternoon the undersigned received information that a person, claiming to be Dr. Hostetter, is the author. There are parties named Smith, it is understood, residing at Pittsburg Pa., who make Hostetter's Bitters, and ship quantities here and elsewhere. We have seen and tried the bitters, and know the genuine Dr Isaac T. Hostetter's Bitters is a far superior article in every respect, containing no deleterious ingredients.

The undersigned, James H. Clark, is the manufacturer of the genuine Dr. Isaac T. Hostetter's Bitters, and is the only person of the name of Clark engaged in the business in this city. The Clark mentioned in the publication is no doubt intended to apply to him.

We have resided in Chicago for some time, and probably will the remainder of life, and do not intend that any Pittsburg interloper shall, with impunity, charge us with counterfeiting and imitating an article we have no desire to meddle with; but will endeavor to protect ourself, and will continue to manufacture and sell the only truly genuine Dr. Isaac T. Hostetter's Bitters. Smith and others at Pittsburg may sell what they choose—not interfering with our arrangements—as long as credulous customers can be found to purchase.

JAMES H. CLARK.

Messrs. Publishers Chicago Press and Tribune:

GENTS.—We notice a card, headed "A Card—To the public," in the Times of the 2d ult., which for the first time we see to-day, intended as a reply to our caution to parties selling our Hostetter Stomach Bitters which we had published in the Press and Tribune a short time before, and in which there appears to be some doubt in the mind of the subscriber as to the identity of the Clark referred to by us as being engaged in refilling our empty, cast off bottles, and retailing the same with counterfeit labels.

In order that we may be understood: the Clark we mean is the same who several years since made Bitters in Pittsburg, but not being able to sell his vile mixture where he was known, suddenly left for parts unknown, much to the chagrin of his many inquiring friends; and lately it appears (if this be the same) he turns up in your city, and unable to sell his preparation there under his own name, he takes advantage of the reputation of our celebrated Bitters, hunts up our empty, cast-off bottles, fills them with his noxious compound, and with the aid of confederates is enabled to deceive many innocent parties who deal in the genuine Bitters, and worse than all, he has the audacity to claim to be manufacturing for another Hostetter, which assertion we pronounce to be as destitute of truth as the character of Clark is of principle.

The writer admits having numerous connections of his name engaged in the medical profession, but none who would condescend to associate with this fellow Clark.

We therefore caution the public and dealers generally against this vile imposter and all concerned in the sale of this fraudulent stuff, and see the advertising columns of Chicago papers for the names of respectable merchants who sell the genuine Stomach Bitters, prepared by

HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburg, Pa.

REALLY AND TRULY GRAND.—When a new discovery, designed to ameliorate human suffering, is modestly brought before the public, and its claims to patronage are stated in an able and dignified style, we are always willing to give it an extra share of our attention. For these reasons we have investigated the merits of GAYETTY'S MEDICATED PAPER, for the Water-Closet, and are satisfied that they demand universal admiration. The Paper is pure, harmless to the healthy, and a blessing to those afflicted by the Piles. It is so cheap as to be expensive—a thousand sheets costing but a dollar, and half that number fifty cents. It is guaranteed as a cure and preventive of piles, and is a luxury besides. All druggists sell it. The discoverer's depot is at 41 Ann street, N. Y., where large and small sizes are made and from whence packages are sent by express to any part of the country. Each sheet has J. C. Gayetty water-marked in.—N. Y. Leader.

Effect of an European War on American Affairs.

The New York Times, in a leading editorial, combats the generally received notion, that a war in Europe, now apparently so near at hand, will have the effect to increase foreign investments in American securities. The writer proceeds upon the hypothesis that the governments of England, France, Austria and Sardinia—the probable parties in the approaching conflict—will absorb in their extraordinary expenditures all the unemployed capital which England and the Continent can spare. Austria and Sardinia are in the market already for $70,000,000; England talks now of $35,000,000 as her first want; while France, the central power, has not yet been able to fix a limit to her demands. These loans and the distrust which American repudiation and the break down of American railroad securities, have created in relation to investments on this side of the water, will, the writer argues, force the employment of European capital at home. The view is plausible; and the results, if our authority is to be relied upon, will not be unfortunate for the permanent prosperity of our country. We quote:

The impending situation of American affairs seems to us to offer the fairest opportunity that could be asked for a thorough regeneration of the finances and a thorough re-establishment of the financial character of the United States. It will prove to us, we believe, what we needed most to learn—that we are fully equal to our own wants; that we have generated a far greater sum-total of available wealth than we have heretofore possessed; and that we lack only intelligence, economy and honesty in the management of our own concerns to make ourselves independent of our whilom bankers beyond the sea, and to put us in a position fully to profit by every occasion which the crisis of European politics may offer, for developing and extending our commercial relations with the world. The first indication of these consequences, flowing from the actual juncture of events, will be seen, we think, in the gradual return of public interest to great enterprises, which have been so gradually abandoned to the mercy of a few financial operators during the past eighteen months. Take, for instance, the mighty system of railway communications now established throughout the North and West. If you ask the quotations of the Stock Boards, they will tell you this system is a mistake, a blunder, a failure. If you ask the statistics of the country and the principles of public economy, they will tell you that here is a vast conglomerate of values, depressed by bad management, by dishonesty, by want of thrift, yet incalculably precious in themselves, and certain, when handled, as they must soon begin to be, with judgment, prudence and capacity, to approve themselves what they are—a vital element in the progressive wealth of one of the wealthiest and most progressive nations which the world has ever seen. So with the coal interests, the iron interests, all the great investments of American skill and of capital, native or foreign, in the development of the natural resources of the country. As soon as the people of the United States begin, as they soon must begin, to feel that the exigencies of European politics are driving our own life blood home through our own views, they will begin to find that no other life-blood is really needed there, and that the organization of our prosperity is amply equal to all possible legitimate pressure that can be put upon it. This lesson will be rapidly learned, just as rapidly as the facts of existing depreciation in American values come to be fairly analyzed, and the causes of that depreciation to be fully understood. And whatever the policy of 1859 may bring to Europe, we are confident that it ought to bring, and more than hopeful that it must bring, to the United States a sounder, surer, more intelligent and honest development than we have known since the discoveries of California and Australia first electrified the world.

While we accept the conclusions at which the Times aims, we will remind that journal that there is one effect of our European war which it fails to take into the account; and that is the increased activity which it would give to the market for all our great staples—cotton only excepted. The demand for our beef, pork, and grain, our marine stores, timber, &c., would be immediate and continuous and at prices which would spur production to its utmost limit. With them, the establishment of an independent system of American finances, and with the means afforded us for the liquidation of a portion of our foreign debt, as the result of the European imbroglio, we may be content to let the despots enter the lists as soon as their fear or courage will permit. Standing aloof from all complication with Continental affairs, ours would be the gain whosoever might lose.

The New Hampshire Election and the Charleston Convention.

New Hampshire, and, indeed, all New England, has suffered much in a commercial view, and unless she alters her course, is destined to suffer much more by her apparent devotion to the transient interests of a political party, whose array of men, and whose principles, are all opposed to the South. Is this doubted? The South produces the cotton which feeds the mills of New Hampshire, and of New England; and the South, not doing heretofore her own manufacturing, has from choice carried on an immense trade with her,—must we say former?—friends. What now is the condition of this trade? To speak within reasonable bounds, it is lessened to such a pinching extent as that the people began to feel it,—and when the people shall feel the effects of this evil, as they ought to be made to feel it, we have no fears but it will speedily corrected. When New England shall find out that it does not pay to agitate about negroes—and she will find this out soon—then she will hasten back to embrace the old and never-to-die Democratic party, and to the honorable performance of all her duties towards her sister States under the Constitution.—Chicago Times.

If a more dastardly paragraph, a more servile menace, than the above, has ever appeared in the columns of an American journal, we have not seen it. Such an exhibition of malevolence and debasement must have proceeded from a special anguish—something of which the great public are not cognizant—and we fancy Mr. Douglas' chances at Charleston hinged particularly on the New Hampshire election. By steadily falsifying the result of the late Illinois campaign—by making it appear that Douglas, instead of Lincoln, had a majority of the popular vote—by contrasting this fiction with the disasters which overtook the Democracy in the balance of the North—it has been made to appear that Mr. Douglas, and he alone, can save the party from overwhelming defeat in 1860. A triumph in New Hampshire at this juncture would give a new impetus to this surge of sentiment, and a further success in Connecticut would make it for the time being irresistible. Hence extraordinary exertions were made by the Douglas and Pierce factions in the Granite State. They obtained undivided control of the organization, made a platform to their own liking, and nominated candidates of their own kidney. They fought as men fight whose all is staked on the issue. The result goes like a harpoon to their vitals, and their spite finds vent in malevolent threats against the mechanics and manufacturers of New England. They—the menials and janissaries of slavery, with no interest in its existence but to earn their rations in its degrading jobs—flourish massa's whip over the honest and independent laborers of the North, with the malice of baffled imps.

But the threats are as void of significance as they are full of malevolence and fury. The gasconade which the plantation lords tell the doughfaces to peddle, about the withdrawal of Southern trade from particular markets, amounts to this. The South cannot live without cloth, shoes, hats, axes, spades, hoe-handles, tables, clocks, and occasionally a steam engine, a piano forte and a spelling book. These are produced cheaper in New England for the Southern markets, than anywhere else in the world. Are the consumers of these wares and fabrics likely to send to Europe and pay two prices for them, to gratify a few discomfited politicians? If so, where will they find pro-slavery manufacturers? Not in England, surely; and nowhere else can they buy the necessaries of civilized life, except at prices which would bankrupt them in a single year. Moreover the South must have a market in which to sell as well as to buy. Stopping the manufactories of New England would be burning the candle of the South at both ends—reducing the price of her great export and enhancing that of her chief article of consumption. The South can never manufacture for herself until she learns the value of free labor. Great centres of industry are never found in half civilized communities. The blacks are too ignorant and the whites too proud to manage looms and water-power. If the freemen of New Hampshire never elect a pro-slavery ticket till the South ceases to buy their calicoes and coaches, they will be Republicans till the millennium.

☞ The "Puddlers" in some of the Pittsburg Iron Works, have struck for higher wages. The [illegible], Girty Run, Coleman, Hailman & Co., Shoenberger, Bailey, Brown & Co., Clinton and [illegible] Wood & Co.'s mills are now idle.

The Great Railway Compact.

From dispatches to the Cincinnati Gazette, we learn that Mr. Moran, President of the New York and Erie Railroad, has given written notice to the Presidents of the New York Central, Pennsylvania Central, and the Baltimore and Ohio roads, that he will no longer be bound by the compact made at the St. Nicholas Hotel several months since. The reason assigned by Mr. Moran is the belief that it was daily violated by the competing lines.

The object sought to be attained by this compact, viz: fair and reasonably remunerative prices for freight and passenger traffic between the East and West, was commendable and entirely just to the public and to the stockholders of the several competing roads. We have never believed, however, that such a compact could be maintained for any considerable time. The interests involved are so conflicting, and the temptations to violate it, directly or indirectly, are so constant and pressing, that all such efforts at adjustment must in the end prove abortive.

In the competition which must follow, the Erie road will have a decided advantage. It has nothing to lose, for its managers know that its stock is not and never can be really worth a mill upon the dollar. For years they have made no dividends and never expect to It is hopelessly bankrupt, while its competitors will strive, as heretofore, to pay fair dividends on their stock. In any event, while the stockholders of the three lines opposed to the Erie may suffer some, the Western public will be large gainers by the competition which will be sure to follow. Low fares and low freights will be very acceptable in these hard times, when every dime saved counts nearly ten times its nominal value in relieving us from embarrassment. The western public will therefore regard the breaking of the compact by Mr. Moran, with great satisfaction.

New Jersey Politics.

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.]

Trenton, March 7, 1859.

The contest now going on at Trenton, for the election of a United States Senator, to fill the place of that recreant son of New Jersey, the Hon. Wm. Wright, is one of the most complicated that has taken place within the memory of our oldest politician.

The principal cause of this complication arises from the fact that the Opposition is composed of very heterogenous materials. The Senate consists of 12 Administration, 1 Anti-Lecompton Democrat, 3 Republicans, 4 American Republicans, and 1 Shanghae American, alias Straight-out Doughface.

In the House there is a clean Opposition majority of 12.

With such a melancholy classification in the Senate, you will be able to appreciate the difficulties in the way of accomplishing anything not sanctioned by the Administration.

The action of the majority in the Senate has, so far, been in keeping with the unenviable reputation earned by the Lecomptonite party. Contrary to all precedent, the Senate have attempted to dictate to the Governor whom he shall appoint to the office of Chancellor.

The Hon. Mr. Wright's term of office has run out by the statute of limitation, and he no longer disgraces the State of New Jersey by his presence in the Senate. What will be the result of this state of affairs, no man can determine.

A resolution for a joint meeting on the 2d day of March last, at 11 o'clock, passed the House about one week previous to that time, and upon its reception in the Senate, was referred to the Judiciary Committee, and there remained until within one half hour before the appointed time, when it was adopted.

The Opposition, however, were doomed to disappointment. Precisely at the appointed hour, when the Assembly was packed with the friends of the several candidates and other interested spectators, and while anxiously expecting the arrival of the members of the Senate, the Clerk of the same made his appearance, and laid the resolution on the table, and refused to go into joint meeting, accompanying this notice with the apology that this action of theirs was taken in consequence of "severe domestic affliction," whether of the Democratic household or of some individual member, the Secretary did not say.

The Democracy are not without hope of electing their man, as by using the funds of certain aspirants they may be able to purchase enough votes to counterbalance the majority of seven against them on joint ballot. They will have to secure three Anti-Lecompton Democrats who have refused heretofore to co-operate with them in the selection of a Senator. Commodore Stockton claims to be able to accomplish the job. Your correspondent thinks not. His friends claim that his political views harmonize with all the three parties—American, Republican and Democratic. This gutta-percha principle is not likely to avail him in the present contest, as I imagine neither party is anxious to engage his services. He may, however, turn up as a rangement with Billy Wright to hold the place for him until a favorable turn in politics shall occur, when he is to resign in favor of Billy. This game is well understood here, and the enemies of Wright will make a vigorous effort to defeat the arrangement.

On the part of the Opposition, plenty of candidates are presented. The Hon. Wm. L. Dayton was very earnestly urged in the early part of the contest, but he very promptly declined being a candidate.

Frederick Frelinghuysen, Gov. Pennington, Jacob W. Miller, R. S. Fields, E. W. Whelpley, and a large number of other distinguished citizens, are ready to be offered as a compromise candidate, in the event of the failure of the Opposition to elect from the list of regular candidates.

Iowa in Congress.

For the first time in the history of the State, she is represented in the national legislature by an entire Republican delegation. Those old relics, mummies of a bygone Democracy have been supplanted by the live oak of Republicanism. Harlan and Grimes in the Senate, Curtis and Vandever in the House, is a representation of which any State might well be proud. They are all men of experience—of ability, of probity, and will command at Washington the respect and the confidence, of their law making associates. It is just such a delegation as the new and enterprising State of Iowa needs to represent her already large and growing interests in the national councils. "Dancing" and "Gallantry," well enough as staples for home amusement, are not such interests as require to be specially represented in the Republic's Capitol. Other interests overshadow these, and demand the undivided attention of the people's servants. To the work of advancing the material, intellectual and moral welfare of the great State of Iowa, as well as of the entire country, we hope and we believe the present Congressional delegation will address themselves with vigor and fidelity.—Iowa City Republic.

A Child Overboard—Narrow Escape from Death.

When the up train on the Chicago and Alton Road was between Monticello and Brighton, on Monday night, a young boy aged about nine years, was sitting in the hindmost car with his mother, left his seat for the purpose, as was supposed, of going back to the water closet; but several minutes having elapsed and nothing more being seen of him, a search through the car was instituted, when it was found that he had passed out through the door to the platform and the fact was at once apparent that he had fallen overboard. The train was instantly stopped, and a watchman sent back along the track to search for the body. As the train was on a down grade at the time and going at the rate of twenty five miles an hour, of course it was taken for granted that the boy was dashed to pieces and instantly killed. His distressed mother, in an intense agony of mind, stopped off at Brighton to await the return of the messenger. When the train, however, reached this city, a telegraphic dispatch was awaiting it, announcing that the boy was found and "all safe." He said that the chain railing at the end of the car being down, he stepped off and was thrown upon the ground; that he immediately jumped up and hollowed for the train to stop for him, but that he couldn't make it hear. Altogether a narrower escape from what would have appeared like an inevitable and terrible death, we have seldom seen recorded.—State Journal.

Improved Prospects of Copper Mining.

A letter received at Detroit from Ontonagon a few days ago, says:

A party of gentlemen of this place have just returned from a visit to the Portage Lake District. They report the mines in that vicinity as showing any quantity of copper. They think the recent excitement in Portage stocks was legitimate, and that there is every thing to warrant their going to a still higher figure before the excitement subsides.

At the Pewabic they are stamping from fifty-five to sixty tons of stamp work per day. You may judge of the richness of the work, when it is a fact that they cannot run the stamps more than from two and a half to three hours, without being compelled to stop to remove barrel work from under the stamp heads. It is confidently expected by those competent to judge, that the Pewabic will ship from 800 to 1,000 tons of copper this year.

That we are going to have more dividend paying mines on Lake Superior in a very short time, seems to be no longer a doubt.

The estimates I have given above are rather under than above general opinion.

We are having fine weather now. The ice in the lake is loose and floating about; two or three weeks of warm weather would make it as clear as in summer.

The Upper Mississippi.

The Mississippi, we learn, is free from ice as far up as Dubuque. At this point the ice is quite rotten, and is fast breaking up from the shores. A few more such warm days as Sunday and Monday will render the river quite clear of its winter covering. Lake Pepin, we hear, is open from its mouth to above Lake City, so that the navigation of that portion of the river will not be obstructed longer than points above and below. By the St. Louis papers we observe that the steamer Canada was advertised to leave that port on Saturday, with the intention of proceeding as far up as St. Paul. Judging from present appearances, she will not meet with much detention from the ice.—Winona (Min.) Republican, 2d.

☞ The Keokuk Gate City says that in 1842 Philip Barton Key, then a young lawyer, with a friend of his of the same profession from Baltimore city, came to Iowa and were admitted to the bar in that District. They remained in Burlington, we believe, three or four months, but not liking the prospects returned again to Baltimore and Washington.

News by the Overland Mail.

[From the Missouri Republican.]

The Overland Mail arrived last night, making its customary time from San Francisco to this city—twenty-three days—the date of its departure being noon of the 14th ultimo.

The passengers by this arrival were Messrs. Champion and Potts from Tucson, Arizona, formerly of Ohio; Mr. Anderson, from Sherman, Texas, going to Boonville, Mo., and Mr. Hicken a merchant of Fort Smith. None came entirely through from California.

From the passengers from Tucson we have some interesting information regarding the mining interests in Arizona. They are connected with the Santanita Silver Mining Company, which is composed for the most part of persons from Cincinnati or other parts of Ohio, and tell us that the company is working very advantageously. Besides the Santanita mine, they have extended their operations to several new leads, called the Salero, Crystal, Ojero and Busteo leads. The Sonora Company had opened the Cerro Colorado lead, likewise a new one. Near Fort Buchanan the Patagonia and Union leads were being worked, the former by Col. Titus, of Kansas memory, in conjunction with Captain Ewell and others from the Fort. All the silver mining interests of the Territory look favorable. The chief drawback all along has been the expense of transporting the necessary machinery to Arizona, and the high price of lead. Common castings carried thither from San Francisco cost twenty-five cents per pound, and lead, which is an indispensable article in silver mining, costs two dollars per pound. The former difficulty still exists, and is not subject to correction; but the latter has been obviated by the discovery of lead ore in considerable quantity. Mr. Champion had several specimens, one of which contained both gold and silver.

Copper, alum and iron are also found in Arizona. A piece of iron ore, very pure, and weighing about 3,000 pounds had been found near Tubac.

Near Mountain Pass, a Comanche Indian was killed not more than an hour before the mail coach passed by. Four Comanches were skulking near the place for the purpose of running off some stock in care of a Mexican herdsman.—The latter concealed himself and fired as the Indians approached, shooting one down, and then retreated in some haste.

Mangus Colorado, with three hundred Apaches were encamped at Apache Pass. It was feared by the whites that they would do mischief in the spring, as soon as the grass got high enough to favor their operations.

The Apache murderers of the two sergeants, Berry and Kelly, had not been chastised. The wives and families of the murdered men were not made captives at the time, as had been reported. A party of whites arrived at the scene opportunely enough to save them.

[From the San Francisco National, 14th.]

Put Back.—The steamer Uncle Sam, chartered to carry United States troops, pack mules, baggage, ammunition, provisions, &c., to the Colorado river, and which sailed on the 11th inst., was suddenly caught (about 11 o'clock the same night, when nearly forty miles from the Heads) in a severe south easterly gale. As it was found almost impossible to keep her head to wind, it was deemed expedient to throw overboard some forty tons of barley, over 100 half barrels of pork, about forty bales of hay, and some 1,000 sacks of coal, also spars and valuable trunks belonging to the officers. About midnight the violence of the hurricane abated, and the steamer steered for this port, where she arrived last Saturday morning. The scene on board with some 500 souls was frightful. The amount of property sacrificed is stated at about $15,000. The Uncle Sam, upon returning, transferred her troops to the Cortez.

From the Sacramento Union, 11th.

The Medical Society and Dr. Cole.—The State Medical Society, which has been in session two days in our city, Thursday took action in the case of the alleged libel perpetrated by Dr. R. B. Cole. The report of the committee appointed to investigate the matter will be found in another column. After the course of censure indulged by some of the San Francisco newspapers, and excused if not justified by some of the members of the Society, the public will be surprised to hear that this Association have passed a resolution by a vote of 22 to 8, acquitting Dr. Cole of the foul intention charged upon him.

Russian Policy in the Ochotsk.—The Advertiser prefaces the following communication with remarks implying that the course pursued by the Russian cruiser, is in violation of treaty stipulations:

Ayan, Ochotsk Sea, Oct. 1, 1858.

"There has been some difficulty this season between the French whale ships and the Russian brig Constantine. It originated in an attempt on the part of the captain of the brig to force the ship Ville de Rennes from the harbor of Yan, and prevent his whaling there. The captains of the brig Constantine and also of the Graefer Berg have been very zealous in their endeavors to frighten American and other ships from Ochotsk sea whaling. Whether they have succeeded in intimidating many American shipmasters from going there another season, (by mere threats of armed cruisers) yet remains to be seen. The brig took possession of Ayan, and has been here all the season until the difficulty with the French ship. The Russian captain called upon the Governor to assist, but that worthy individual had the good sense to mind his own business, and the Emperor of Russia alone: consequently the captain left the bay in high dudgeon. Capt. Enberg took possession of Tavisk bay, and held it without molestation; but there were no whales in the bay."

Prospects of the Wheat Crop.

Our exchanges from the rural districts are, as usual, silent in regard to the matter in which the country has more interest than in any other—the prospects of the growing Wheat crop. We [illegible] have a cheerful look, and they are all that have come under observation in looking through an armful of Western papers:

[From the Peoria Transcript.]

The Coming Wheat Crop.—We have encouraging accounts of the wheat crop from most of the counties around. A gentleman from Knox County informs us that the wheat looks well throughout that section—much of it better than at this season in former years. Another person who arrived in this city last evening from Woodford County, brings us the same flattering intelligence from that portion of country. It is truly good news, betokening that the business sky is brightening, and whenever the roads shall have become settled, we think a heavy trade may be anticipated in the Central City.

[From the Du Quoin (Perry Co., Ill.) Herald.]

The Wheat Crop and the Weather.—A letter from Carbondale, Jackson County, says that the Wheat never looked better than it now does at this season of the year. A large quantity was sown in this and adjoining counties, which now bids fair to richly repay the farmer for his toil.

Peaches and other fruits now promise an abundant yield. No apprehension is felt of a failure, unless the present warm weather should push them forward so rapidly that the ever to be dreaded late frosts should cheat us out of those comforts of life.

Already the farmers are commencing to prepare their ground for corn and oats; but very little, however, will be sown of the latter, from the extreme scarcity of the seed, but an unusual amount of corn will be planted, should the weather prove favorable.

Men and women are busily engaged in making their gardens, and everything betokens an unusually early spring.

[From the Champaign, Ill., Gazette.]

Good News of the Wheat Crop.—We are informed by our friend J. B. Porterfield, who has of late traveled extensively in the southern part of the State, that the prospects for a full and abundant wheat crop are exceedingly favorable. The fields are, as a general thing, looking remarkably well, and without some unexpected turn for the worse we may expect to have good news from Egypt next harvest.

We are glad to be able to announce, on good authority, that the fields in our own neighborhood are not near so badly off as we at first supposed. Let us but have a reasonably favorable condition of things from this time forward, and little fear need be entertained of the result.

Still, as we have so often urged before, the main dependence of Central Illinois this year must be upon our corn and spring wheat, as, owing to the comparatively small surface sown, even under favorable circumstances the aggregate yield must be rather light.

[From the Ohio State Journal, 8th.]

The Wheat Crop in Ohio.—During a trip north on Saturday on the Mad River Railroad, we gave particular attention to the growing wheat crop on the road, and obtained what information we could from farmers living in the vicinity of it. The crop appears generally in good condition, and where it was otherwise, it was evidently owing to unskillful or negligent tillage. The winter, which we supposed to have been very trying to wheat, seems not to have injured it. In many places it has suffered from standing water. Except in such cases, and where it was sown very late, the crop promises a fair yield at least, and some farmers say it is uncommonly promising. We noticed that where the ground had been well ridged in plowing, and the dead furrows carried out to the borders of the field so as to give an outlet to the water, the growing wheat invariably looked well. Farmers might take hints from a general observation of this kind, that would be worth more to them than several agricultural shows or conventions. The benefits of early sowing would also be quite as apparent as those of surface drainage. On the whole, the growing wheat now offers a flattering prospect that the judicious and energetic labors of the farmers will be well rewarded, while the negligent and unskillful will have the usual complaints against the season and Providence.

Navigation on Lake Erie.

[From the Detroit Advertiser, 10th.]

We are informed by E. R. Matthews, Esq., that the propeller Portsmouth, of the N. Y. & Erie R. R. line, left Dunkirk last Thursday for Toledo, with a load of freight, at which place she arrived without difficulty. The Portsmouth is commanded by Capt. McNiff, and will return to Dunkirk, load for Detroit, and be here in a few days.

The propeller Ocean, Capt. Kirby, of the same line, will leave Dunkirk on the 12th instant for this place, and will run regularly thereafter between the two ports.

The steamer Ariel is now making her trips with regularity between Detroit and New Baltimore.

The steamer Dart left yesterday morning for Port Huron, and the Forester, Captain J. P. Ward, leaves at nine o'clock this morning for the same place and Forestville, with a large load of freight.

The propeller Missouri, W. T. Co., will leave for Buffalo on Saturday.

The Forest Queen, Captain Cottrell, will commence her regular trips to Saginaw the coming week.

The Des Moines Navigable.

We learn that the Des Moines is now at full banks, and boats have started up. The Col. Morgan and Clara Hine were on their way up yesterday, with good loads of freight. The dam at Croton is partially gone, and the Bentonsport dam is nearly all gone, but boats pass up with little delay. The Clara Hine went over the Keosauqua dam on high water.

If the Des Moines will only keep up awhile, we may look for a smart revival of trade.—Keokuk Gate City.

The subjects to be discussed are those that pertain to domestic cookery, the wardrobe, the laundry, household utensils and machinery, house furnishing, warming and lighting, household expenses and economies, domestics, family hygiene, the management and education of children, the difficulties encountered, and the reforms needed, &c.

Collection of Debts in Iowa.

Keokuk, Iowa, March 4, 1859.

The undersigned, Attorneys at Law, to whom a large amount of debts have been confided for collection in the city, by parties living without this State, deem it but a part of their professional duty to their clients, to acquaint them with the present condition of our judicial business, and with the legislation which has taken place regarding the courts in this county. And the undersigned hope that the following statement will fully explain their apparent tardiness in enforcing the claims with which they have been entrusted:

Prior to January, 1858, four terms of the District Court of Lee county were held by law every year, viz: at Keokuk on the second Monday in February and September, and at Fort Madison on the second Mondays in March and October.

The General Assembly of this State, which convened on the first Monday in January, 1858, by an act which was approved on the 19th of January, repealed so much of the above law as appointed a term of said Court to be held at Keokuk on the second Monday in February, [illegible] day in March, 1858.

The same Assembly passed another act which was approved the 22d of March, 1858, and which operated throughout the State, to make the first term, after a suit was brought, simply an appearance term, and to defer the trial of all such suits to the second term after their commencement. This last act expired by its own limitation on the 1st of January, 1859.

By this legislation it will be seen that all civil suits brought after September, 1857, had accumulated on the docket of the Court to the large amount of some eighteen hundred cases, and all the suits at law, and such of the Chancery cases as were ready for hearing, were set for trial at the February term at Keokuk, 1859.

This term has just been held, and the action of the Court was to postpone further the trial of civil causes, by discharging the petit jurors immediately after the criminal cases had been concluded. Upon a strong appeal, made by some of the members of the Bar in behalf of their clients' rights, a special term of court was ordered on the 4th Monday in June, and to that we are now looking with great anxiety.

Such is a brief summary of the facts by which the action of our Courts has been virtually suspended since the fall of 1857.

Illinois Antiquities.

Wm. M'Adams, Jr., has discovered in Jersey county, in times past, many interesting antiquities. In doing this he has probably visited an hundred mounds, examined many of them closely, and he has also explored a number of caverns. Recently, in a communication to the Prairie State, he invites attention to new discoveries which he considers of the utmost importance. He says: "Having heard from some old settlers in the vicinity of the Piasa, accounts of some pictures on the bluff, near the mouth of that stream, I concluded to visit them. After two days unsuccessful search over almost inaccessible hills, down deep hollows, and in dark caverns, I at length discovered what I believe to be a hieroglyphic writing, or ancient mode of recording history, events, &c. These pictures are painted on the face of a smooth rock in a cavernous cleft under an overhanging cliff. They are some fifty feet from the bottom of the bluff, and are best approached from above, by a circuitous path on a narrow ledge of rock that leads to them. The hieroglyphics are painted in a straight horizontal line from east to west. The original number cannot now be ascertained, as a great part of the rock has become detached, and falling out from the cliff, is dashed to pieces below. The figures represent men, planets and animals. Of one of the latter only a part remains, the greater part having gone down with the detached portions of the bluff. From the situation of these paintings they are protected from all dampness and storms.

On the top of the bluff, above these singular hieroglyphics, I found an ancient mound, somewhat similar to the one described in a former communication as a 'stone mound.' It was thirty feet in circumference at the base, and was covered over with flat stones. Two feet beneath the surface, in a sarcophagus made of stones, was a single skeleton, extended on its back; the bones were admirably preserved, and I brought away the skull, perfect in every part. I have taken a minute description of the mound, and a drawing of the hieroglyphics, which, together with other facts, I intend to lay before the Academy of Science at St. Louis, in compliance with a previous request of that body."—State Journal.

The Mortality of the Princess.

From the New Orleans Delta of the 3d.

Referring to the various accounts that have reached us from different quarters, we have made out the following lists, which, we believe, may be received as authentic. We have included in the list of dead all who are missing. Any other classification would be a mockery. We have also included among the killed those who have since died of their wounds.

KILLED.

Capt. Jackson, H. W. Sherburn, J. C. Taylor, J. W. Seymour of Baton Rouge; H. B. Murphy, Rapides Parish; John J. Hode, Miss.; John Clark, officer; Mr. Brandon, James Gale, W. L. Glover, Natchez; Col. Coffee, Miss.; L. Huard, Charles Bannister, members of the Louisiana Legislature; Dr. Richards, Pointe Coupee; John M. Bell, New Orleans; John Hagan, Iberville; Mr. Marks, Miss.; James Hood, clerk of the boat; Mr. Calhoun, Maysville, Ky.; Master Stewart, Miss.; Joseph Clark, second clerk; Peter Hearsey, second engineer; Edward Quig, barkeeper; William Kingston, New Orleans; Mr. Carney, barkeeper; Rusbeia, and Andrew, colored hands.

WOUNDED.

S. H. Lurty, Sheriff of West Feliciana; Mr. Brewer, lawyer, of Bayou Sara; W. B. Phillips, merchant, of Bayou Sara; Wm. Vernon, Sheriff of Concordia; H. Wilcox, Rodney, Mississippi; John F. Scott, Texas; Auguste Delee, Clinton, La.; F. Larget, Natchez; Mr. Cockburne, New Orleans; W. Harbour, J. Vignes, Point Coupee; F. Cheatham, Baton Rouge; Mr. Baxter, Rapides; Mr. Corneau, Baton Rouge; Mr. Albery, Baton Rouge; L. D. Reeves, member of Legislature, from Texas; F. C. Laville, member of Legislature, New Orleans; T. Davenport, Mississippi; Judge F. Farra, Point Coupee; Philip Brandon, Mississippi; Miss Lucy Stone, Natchez; Mrs. F. Surget, Natchez; Mr. W. H. Wirts, Washington City; M. Bourgeois, Point Coupee; Mr. Hudson, Bayou Sara; Geo. Evans Natchez; Philip Stevens, Baton Rouge; J. M. Carr, New Carthage; E. Flood, Bardstown, Ky.; Miss T. Smith, Natchez; Edward Williams, Texas; Joseph Delaney, Judge Boyce, Avoyelles; E. Canonge, New Orleans; E. Lacouel, Point Coupee.

The list does not include the hands or crew of the boat, among whom the mortality must have been great.

Hits by Prentice.

[From the Louisville Journal.]

—The editor of the Washington Union charges the Opposition presses with pursuing very low ways. The ways of himself and his accomplices are high enough. He and his gang are highwaymen.

—It is said that the people of Baton Rouge are evidently making preparations for war. They have placed two huge brass cannon in a position to rake the river. Probably they are preparing to shoot the tariff if it comes that way.

—Stephens, of Georgia, declined a public dinner tendered to him at Washington before the adjournment of Congress. He pleaded business as the cause of refusal, but the fact is he has eaten so many of his own words and opinions since he turned Locofoco that the poor dyspeptic fellow has no appetite left.

—The Democratic organs tell us that there must be retrenchment and reform at the seat of government. This has been the Democratic cry from the time of John Q. Adams's administration up to the present day. During this period, the Democracy, with the shout of retrenchment eternally upon their lips, have retrenched the government expenditures from $13,000,000 up to about $100,000,000; and, as their cry of retrenchment is now louder than ever, we presume they will, while their power lasts, go on retrenching up the expenditures more rapidly than ever. How long do the people think they can stand this retrenching process?

Dr. Doy.

The Platte City Atlas of the 5th has no allusion to the report, nor to the trial of Dr. Doy, which was expected to be had at the Court, which commenced its sittings there on the 28th ult. A Platte City correspondent of the Weston Argus writing under date of March 2d, has the following in reference to it:

"The notorious Doy and Son were produced in Court, and had extended to them the privilege of objecting to the jury. No objection being offered on their part, the grand jury was forthwith empanneled.

The case of Doy and Son is still before the grand jury, and as nearly as we can learn, their trial will probably take place about the middle of next week."

A Curious Calculation.

The quantity of cotton wool brought into England every year might be piled into a pyramid which would rival that of Cheops. The eight thousand five hundred and seventy-two millions of miles of yarn spun in England in a year might be wound round and round the earth, as a boy winds string round a top; or we might throw the shuttle over distant Uranus, and then tangle together the "red planet Mars," the Earth, Venus, Mercury, and the Sun in our net of cotton. The whole of the British Islands might be wrapt up in cotton wool, and put up carefully for the inspection of future ages, in not very many years' consumption of that raw material.

SOMETHING NEW!!!—MITCHELL'S PATENT

Metallic-Tipped Boot and Shoe.

An improvement has been applied to Boots and Shoes, by which a Great Saving in Expense is made. Every boot and shoe dealer knows that children will wear out at the toe the best-constructed shoe in from four to six weeks, and that it has hitherto defied the skill of manufacturers to obviate this difficulty.

THE "METALLIC TIP"

meets and overcomes it. A small piece of copper is neatly fastened to the toe of the boot or shoe, affording a complete protection to it, and rendering the efforts of the most inveterate stamper ineffectual to kick or wear it out.

We present this invention with the fullest knowledge of and experience in its Practical Utility. Having now for nearly two years been subjected to the severest tests, it has, by its own intrinsic merits, actually surmounted every objection that could possibly be brought against it, as the accompanying certificates, which are but a fair average of hundreds of others, will abundantly corroborate. We have no hesitation in saying that the Metallic-Tipped Shoe is destined to entirely supercede, for Children and Youth, the old style; and we consider it a moderate statement, that one pair of the Metallic Tips will outwear two to three pairs of the old style, making a saving of nearly two-thirds in the expense of shoes.

N. B.—This invention is a complete protection from the cutting of the Prairie Grasses, and is especially adapted to Miners' use, and all occupations which particularly expose the toe of the boot or shoe to being cut or worn.

WATER WHEELS.

VANDEWATER'S

Recently Improved Jonval Turbine

WATER WHEEL.

Office, No. 81 South Clark Street,

CHICAGO.

I OFFER THIS IMPROVED TURBINE Water Wheel to the public with the fullest confidence and assurance of its

SUPERIORITY OVER ALL OTHER WHEELS,

Without any exception. They are well adapted to (and have been tested in) Mills of all descriptions. They give a very

STEADY AND UNIFORM SPEED,

And are well adapted to very high as well as very low heads and falls. They will work well in back water without any material loss of power, and are not troubled with ice, as they are set inside of the forebay and discharged underneath. It requires a small amount of gearing to get up a high speed, costs but little to set up, and runs upon a step that needs no oiling, and will last for years. This Wheel is capable of yielding a power of from 70 to 85 per cent. of the whole power of the water (according to the degree of finish of wheel) under high heads and falls, and in all cases it is warranted to work up to the power laid down in the table and to give satisfaction when properly put up and geared.

State, County and Town territories for sale.

For further particulars see circulars, which can be obtained at the Agent's Office, No. 81 South Clark st.

Brown's Bronchial Troches.

COPYRIGHT SECURED.

Entered according to act of Congress in the year 1857, by John I. Brown & Son, Chemists, Boston, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Dist. of Massachusetts.

☞ COUGHS.—The great and sudden changes of our climate are fruitful sources of Pulmonary and Bronchial Affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stage of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the cough or irritation of the throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off.

Brown's Bronchial Troches,

☞ Cures Cough, Cold, Hoarseness and Influenza.
☞ Cures any Irritation or Soreness of the Throat.
☞ Relieves the Hacking Cough in Consumption.
☞ Relieves Bronchitis, Asthma and Catarrh.
☞ Clears and gives strength to the voice of Singers.
☞ Indispensable to Public Speakers.

Brown's Bronchial Troches.

[From Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who has used the Troches for five years.]

"I have never changed my mind respecting them from the first, except to think yet better of that which I began thinking well of. In all my lecturing tours I have put 'Troches' into my carpet bag as regularly as I do lectures or shirts. I do not hesitate to say that in so far as I have had an opportunity of comparison, your Troches are pre-eminently the best and the first of the great Lozenge School."

Brown's Bronchial Troches.

[From Rev. E. H. Chapin, D. D., New York.]

"I consider your Lozenges an excellent article for their purposes, and recommend their use to Public Speakers."

Brown's Bronchial Troches.

From Mr. C. H. Gardner, Principal of the Rutger's Female Institute, New York.

"I have been afflicted with the Bronchitis during the past winter, and found no relief until I found your Troches."

Brown's Bronchial Troches.

☞ For Children laboring under Cough, Whooping Cough, or Hoarseness, are particularly adapted, on account of their soothing and demulcent properties. Assisting expectoration, and accumulation of phlegm.

MOTHERS, AS YOU LOVE YOUR Children, be on the alert for every symptom of Worms. For worms cause the death of more than any other disease. In all cases of pale countenance, livid circle around the eyes, and foul breath give HOLLOWAY'S VEGETABLE WORM CONFECTIONS. They are a delicious preparation of Sugar that any child will crave. If worms are present, they will safely and effectually remove them and restore health in all cases.

DEAD SHOT

FOR

WORMS!

Worms! Worms!—These troublesome inhabitants of the stomach and bowels of children have at last found their match in a matchless preparation called "Holloway's Worm Confection," which is in the form of a pleasant and agreeable candy. The little children affected with worms, which heretofore turned up their noses and sputtered and cried about the administration of the nauseous stuffs under the name of Vermifuge, will open their little mouths with ecstacy to thank the inventor for making a pleasant cure for one of the most troublesome diseases. Every box warranted.

DR. C. J. LEED'S

QUININE SUBSTITUTE,

Or, NERVE TONIC,

WILL CURE

FEVER AND AGUE.

ALSO, YELLOW, CHAGRES AND Panama Fevers can often be prevented by the use of this invaluable remedy. The recipe is from a very celebrated Physician after thirty-five years experience in Hospitals and private practice in New York City, and has been tested in all sections of the country during the past six years with the most wonderful success. In the Western and Southwestern country, where Fever and Ague prevail it has accomplished much by curing the disease as well as renovating and recuperating the system already shattered by the use of Quinine, Morphine and Mercury, or from too free use of the trashy nostrums such as are daily being forced upon the unsuspecting invalid. To all suffering from prostration after disease I recommend and guarantee this Medicine as a perfect Tonic. To travelers in unhealthy climates, I would use the words of the well known Captain John W. Munson, now of a Liverpool Packet Line, and many years in the Southern and South American Coasting trade, "I would as soon think of going to sea without a rudder as without the Quinine Substitute."

WEIGH AND CONSIDER.—AN HONEST QUAKER'S ADVICE TO CONSUMPTIVES.—"Friends! delay not one moment in using this great and best Cough remedy, HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, As death is very near thee and the sands of thy life are nearly run out it will be to thee the wine of Life, and thou wilt be restored again to thy family. Thou need not despair for so nearly as thou art gone thy condition is not more [illegible] than [illegible] have been restored to robust health, as well as thousands of others, whose testimony thou wilt find with the [illegible]."

A PERFECTLY TRIUMPHANT

REMEDY

FOR ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM MALARIA;

Particularly FEVER and AGUE.

Chills and Fever, and all diseases arising from that condition of the Liver so universally produced by the malaria and fogs of the West. Such as diseased or torpid liver enlargement of the spleen, or Ague Cake in the side, Billious, Intermitting, Remittent Fevers, and, indeed, all diseases arising from a billious condition of the system. Its ingredients are all vegetable and perfectly harmless in their effects, and perfectly certain to cure. Reader, if you desire to save money and time, and get your health, take it at once, instead of those things which only palliate while they do not cure.

Moline, Ill., Feb. 18, 1858.

MESSRS. S. K. MANN & CO.—Gents: We find your Ague Balsam superior to any remedy in our market for the permanent cure of all malarious diseases. We cheerfully recommend it as worthy that great name it has wherever sold and used.

Very truly yours, RICHARDS & THOMAS.

Galion, Ohio, April 1, 1858.

To the sufferers of chills, fever and ague, I cheerfully submit the following: Having observed closely the effects of Dr. Mann's Ague Balsam in this vicinity for the past three years, I am well pleased with its remedial virtues as an antidote to malaria. I have frequently used it in my practice, and with entire satisfaction. From my innate knowledge of this compound, I recommend it as safe, prompt and efficient.

N. E. HACKEDOM, D. M.

Bluffton, Ind., May 17, 1858.

MESSRS. S. K. MANN & CO.—Gents: Having sold your Ague Balsam for the past three years to scores of persons in this vicinity, and closely observing its effects, we do not hesitate in saying we believe it the best remedy ever sold in Indiana, and will effectually cure chills, fever and ague without fail.

Truly yours, PHILLIMAN & KEAKNS, Druggists.

J. LYTLE, Physician and Druggist.

Leonidas, Michigan, June 18, 1858.

MESSRS. S. K. MANN & CO., Galion, Ohio.—Gents: I have to say that I have for several months been completely prostrated by chills fever and ague, and as I have a large family who were dependent upon my labor for their existence, I have tried in vain all the ague remedies in my reach (and they are legion,) but I found none to cure until I used your Ague Balsam. I have never shook, or had a particle of fever since the first dose, and I have since used the third bottle. I have now been sound for three months, and I am confident it is the only thing that will never fail.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR

PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD,

COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS,

IS ONE OF THE BEST PURGATIVE and LIVER MEDICINES now before the public.

LIVER INVIGORATOR.

These Gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food to digest well, purifying the blood, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.

Billious attacks are cured, and, what is better prevented by the occasional use of the Liver Invigorator.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach and prevent the food from rising and souring.

Only one dose taken before retiring, prevents nightmare.

Only one dose taken at night, loosens the bowels gently and cures costiveness.

One dose taken after each meal will cure Dyspepsia.

One dose of two teaspoonsful will always relieve Sick Headache.

Only one dose immediately relieves Cholic, while

One dose often repeated is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, and a preventative of Cholera.

Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long sickness.

One bottle taken for Jaundice removes all sallowness or unnatural color from the skin.

One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite and makes the food digest well.

One dose, often repeated, cures Chronic Diarrhoea in its worst forms, while Summer and Bowel Complaints yield almost to the first dose.

A few bottles will cure Dropsy by exciting the absorbants.

We take pleasure in recommending this medicine as a preventative for Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all Fevers of a Billious type. It operates with certainty, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

ALL WHO USE IT ARE GIVING THEIR UNANIMOUS TESTIMONY IN ITS FAVOR.

☞ Mix water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

Sawyer's Fluid Extract of Bark, an infallible remedy for the Fever and Ague and the various forms of Billious Diseases, Intermittent, Remittent, Chill Fever and Dumb Ague, having their origin in miasmata of very fertile and marshy districts, prepared by Dr. S. S. Sawyer, Druggist and Chemist, and sold by Sawyer, Paige & Co., No. 16 Lake street, Chicago.

This remedy is prepared entirely from vegetable substances, and contains no mercury, arsenic, or anything that can prove injurious to the system. Its effects are those of a deobstruent and tonic, well adapted to restore the healthy action of the Liver and Stomach, whose functions are so generally impaired in this class of diseases.

Quinine and other tonics serve only in many cases to break the chills, but do not remove the disease, of the liver and other organs implicated, on which the chill and Fever depend; hence the usefulness of the "Fluid Extract of Bark," (particularly in regions where Physicians cannot be readily consulted), which contains all the qualities suited to the indications of these maladies.

Hundreds of testimonials in regard to the efficacy of the medicine from persons of respectability, have been given to the proprietor—but he does not make use of them as he prefers to have the medicine in securely by its merits.

Notice.—The undersigned, Stockholders in the Merchant's Bank of Macon Georgia, are by the provisions of its Charter, made personally liable for its issues. The notes of this Bank will be taken by us on deposit on the same terms as Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio. H. A. TUCKER & CO.

A World of Love at Home.

BY J. J. REYNOLDS.

The earth hath treasures fair and bright,
Deep buried in her caves;
And ocean hideth many a gem
With his blue curling waves;
Yet not within her bosom dark,
Or 'neath the dashing foam,
Lies there a treasure equaling
A world of love at home.

True, sterling happiness and joy
Are not with gold allied;
Nor can it yield a pleasure like
A merry fireside.
I envy not the man who dwells
In stately hall or dome,
If 'mid his splendor he hath not
A world of love at home.

The friends whom time hath proved sincere,
'Tis they alone can bring
A sure relief to hearts that droop
'Neath sorrow's heavy wing.
Though care and trouble may be mine,
As down life's path I roam,
I'll heed them not while still I have
A world of love at home.

The Fullness of Christ.

A Sermon by THOMAS GUTHRIE, D. D., author of "The Gospel in Ezekiel," "The City, its Sins and Sorrows," etc., etc.

It pleased the Father, that in Him should all fullness dwell.
COLOSSIANS 1, 19.

Our happiness depends in a very small degree upon what is external to us. Its springs lie deep within; like those waters that, warm in winter and cold in summer, have their fountains bordered with evergreen grass. Yet, how common it is to think otherwise! Hence the keen pursuit of pleasure, lovers' sighs, war's fierce ambition, the student's patient labor as he feeds his midnight lamp with the oil of life, the panting race for riches, the desperate struggles some make to keep themselves from sinking into poverty, and the toil and trouble others endure, to say nothing of the sins which these may alike commit, to rise in the world, as it is called—to keep a better table, to wear a better dress, to live in a better house than satisfied their humble, but happier parents. These paths, crowded and beaten down though they be by the feet of thousands who are treading on each other's heels, never yet conducted any man to happiness. Never. It lies in another direction. Whatever be his condition, be he poor or rich, pining on a sick bed or with health glowing on his cheek, to be married or to be hanged to-morrow, "blessed," or, as we should say, happy, "is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered. Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile."

The way to happiness does not lie in attempting to bring our circumstances up to our minds, but our minds down to our circumstances. Many birds wear a finer coat than the lark, nor is there any that dwells in a lowlier home; yet which of the feathered songsters soars so high, or sings so merrily, or teaches man so well how to leave the day's cares and labors for the bosom of his family, as when, neither envying the peacock his splendid plumage, nor the proud eagle her lofty realm, it drops singing into its grassy nest, to caress its young, and with its wings to shield them from the cold dews of night? To indulge an unsanctified and insatiable ambition, to attempt to bring our circumstances up to our minds, is to fill a sieve with water, or the grave with dead, or the sea with rivers. The passions that in such a case seek gratification, are like that wretched drunkard's thirst; they burn the fiercer for indulgence, and crave for more the more they get. It is often difficult, I grant, to bring our minds down to our circumstances, but he attempts not a difficult, but an impossible thing, who attempts to bring his circumstances up to the height of his ambition. Nature, says the old adage, is contented with little, grace with less, lust with nothing. And ours be the happiness of him who, content with less than little, pleased with whatever pleases the Father, careful for nothing, thankful for anything, prayerful in every thing, can say with Paul, I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content.

Before directing your attention to the fullness that is in Christ, let me embrace the opportunity which the expression offers of exhorting you.

1. To be pleased with whatever pleases God. I have read of an Italian who had learned that difficult lesson so well, that all who witnessed his magnanimity, under the most adverse fortunes, stood astonished. He recalled to men's minds the grand saying of an old heathen, that a good man struggling with adversity was a sight for the gods to look at. It was not that his natural temper was too sweet to be soured or too phlegmatic to be moved; nor was it that, like a cold-blooded animal, he did not feel the iron when it entered his soul. No. He felt it keenly, and bore it bravely; and the secret of his tranquil, heroic patience lay in these four things. First, he said, I look within me, then without me, afterwards beneath me, and last of all, I look above me.

First, he looked within him; and what saw he there? Corruption, guilt, so much unworthiness, as led him to conclude that he deserved no good thing at the hand of God; and that, therefore, whatever blessings his calamities had left to him, were more than he had any right to expect. We write our blessings on the water, but our afflictions on the rock. Those are forgot, these are remembered; and yet, if we turn away our eyes from our trials, and look back on our lives and in upon our hearts, how would that check every rising murmur! Gratitude would temper our grief; and though we might continue to mourn, we should say with David, I will sing of mercy and judgment!

Next, he looked without him, and there he saw, what you all may see, many more severely tried than himself; thousands in point of merit no more unworthy, yet in point of circumstances much more unhappy. Would it not help to clear away the vapors, and rebuke the discontent, and improve the temper of some grumblers among us, were they now and then to visit the sad abodes of wretchedness and poverty? It would certainly teach them how thankful they ought to be that they are not as others are. Have I not seen many a poor wretch in this world who would gladly change places with those of you that are most weary of your burdens, and almost weary of your life. How has it reconciled us to the discomforts of a cold, blustering storm on land, to think of the poor seamen who were tossing on the deep in dread of shipwreck, or hanging on by the shrouds, or whelmed in the ocean, their last prayer washed from their lips, their cries for help drowned in the roar of breakers. When we lay stretched on a bed of sickness, with kind faces around us, angels, as it were, ministering to our wants, it has helped to reconcile us to the weary pillow to think of those who, far from home, lay bleeding on the battle-field, none near to raise their drooping head, or to answer their dying cry of "water, water!" And when death, unwelcome visitor, entered our house, ah! the one coffin left less heavy, when, looking on sweet cots left, we thought of dwellings that the spoiler had, or had all but desolated. Such a thought has calmed the troubled breast, and said to murmuring passions, Peace, be still. It is with its potent spell that in this humble cottage a pious peasant approaches a mother who, wringing her hands, hangs in wild, frantic, terrible grief, over the body of her dead babe; by the wildness of her passion, as a vehement wind beats down the sea, calming the grief of others. Laying her hand kindly on her shoulder, she says, with eyes full of tears, and a voice trembling with emotion, "Hush, Mary! you have but one pair of empty little shoes to look on. Be you thankful. I have six of them." And when most severely tried, and all God's billows seem to be going over us, besides feeling that we are visited with far less than our iniquities deserve, we have only to look abroad to see that our afflictions are fewer than those of many others, and far, far lighter.

He looked next beneath him. And there, to his fancy's eye, lay his grave; a green, grassy mound, six feet of earth! How foolish it seemed to repine over the loss of broad lands, when so small a portion of this earth was all he soon would need, and all, though stretched out at his full length, he could occupy! That man has blunted the keen edge of misfortune, who meets its stroke with the thought, that when it does its worst, it cannot strip him so bare as death [illegible] Adversity, at the worst, but takes time by the forelock, and, by a few brief years, anticipates the great spoiler, inexorable death. We came naked into the world, and we shall leave it as naked. We brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out. The men of fortune shall not carry away a penny of their gold, nor the man of fame so much as a leaf of their laurel crowns. When life's play is [illegible], the stage [illegible] kings and [illegible], queens, priests, soldiers, peasants, statesmen, [illegible] characters, must all return to one common [illegible] let us remember that it shall be with us as with those actors on the stage whom men applaud, not because of the parts they play, but of the way in which they play them. Well done from God, well done from Christ, well done from the tongues of ten thousand angels, shall crown the life of a good servant, but not the life of a bad sovereign. God has no respect for persons, but will reward every man, not according to his place, but according to the way he filled it. He shall reward every man according to his work.

He looked last of all above him, and saw his home in heaven. And how should that glorious prospect sustain us under our severest trials! To that refuge our thoughts may always fly; and as there is no pit so deep but it has that opening over head, though it may be dark below and all around, it is always bright above us. Let the world reel and shake, let banks break, let sudden changes whelm affluence into the lowest depth of poverty, let convulsion succeed convulsion, till the stateliest fabrics, and firmest fortunes are buried into the dust, how blessed at such a time to know that heaven is sure. No tempests sweep its sea of glass. Up there it is calm when it is stormy here; up there it is clear when it is cloudy here; up there it is day when it is darkness here; nor are those realms of bliss any more affected by the events of earth, than are the stars of the firmament by the earthquakes that shake our world or the thunders that shake our skies. By considerations like these we should strengthen our minds, and give them that firmness of texture which shall preserve us from devouring cares, as solid, close-grained oak is preserved from those insects that eat out the hearts of softer woods. Let God give his blessing to such thoughts, and they will enable a Christian man to meet evil as the mountain crag looks out on the approaching storm.

Yet the Italian's explanation of his equanimity under afflictions to which all of us are exposed, and against which, therefore, we do well to be fortified, does not bring out the grandest secret of a calm, resigned, happy spirit; the secret of a patriarch's unparalleled patience and of a prophet's dauntless courage. That lies not so much in looking within, or raising it to the crown, as in looking to God. The brightest light that falls on our trials issues from his throne. That changed the whole aspect of Job's afflictions, and hence his well known exclamation, The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord. And what else but a sight of God inspired the courage with which the prophet eyed the approach of misfortune, defying it as a man on a rock defies the swelling billows of an angry sea. "Although the fig tree shall not blossom, neither shall fruit be in the vines; the labor of the olive shall fail, and the fields shall yield no meat; the flock shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no herd in the stalls; yet I will rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation."

Extravagant as that may sound in the ears of some, it is the language of a calm, sober, solid faith. For what in reason should hinder him who sees in God a Father, and believes that all events proceed from his hand, and are managed by his wisdom, and are prompted by his love, from kissing the rod, and saying, Father, not my will, but thine be done; from taking the cup and draining it to the bitterest dregs. We have perfect confidence in his wisdom and in his love; and we only do him the justice which we would expect from our own children when we believe that he doth not afflict willingly, nor grieve the children of men, nor ever chastens but in love. His was a noble saying who, when his crops were rotting in flooded fields, and ruin stared him from the scowling heavens, and other men cursed the weather, on being asked his reason for saying that it pleased him, replied, It pleases God to send it, and whatever pleases Him pleases me. That sounds like an echo of the old prophet's voice; and we are ready to envy a man whose faith could triumph over such great misfortunes. Yet why should we not lie as calmly in the arms of God's providence as we lay in infancy on a mother's breast? Having an ever living, an ever-lasting, an ever-loving Father in God, how may we welcome all providences; and, drawing some good from every evil, as the bee extracts honey even from poisoned flowers, how may we say, "Our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory!" Sweetly submissive to the will of God, shall it not fare with us as with the pliant reeds that love the hollows and fringe the margin of the lake, and bending to the blast, not resisting it, raise their heads anew, unharmed by the storm that has snapped the mountain pine, and rent the hearts of oak asunder? The joy of the Lord is our strength.

Let us now consider that which, while it pleased God, will certainly please all His people.

II. The fullness that is in Christ.

Within the palace, but without the throne room of Shushan, Queen Esther stands. Those who enter the king's presence unsummoned do it at the peril of their life; and resolved in a good cause to dare the penalty, she stands there with her jeweled foot upon the grave. A noble spectacle! not so much for her unrivaled beauty, still less for the splendor of her apparel, as for the resolution to venture life, and either save her nation or perish in the attempt. In her blooming youth, in the admiration of the court, in the affections of her husband, in her lofty rank, in her queenly honors, she has everything to make life attractive. Here's a golden cup; and it is foaming of pleasures to the brim. But her mind is made up to die; and so, with a silent prayer, and "if I perish, I perish," on her lips, she passes in, and now stands mute and pallid, yet calm and resolute, outside the ring of nobles, to hear her doom. Her fate, which seems to tremble in the balance, is soon determined. No sooner does the monarch catch sight of the beautiful woman, and brave and good as beautiful, whom he had raised from slavery to share his bed and throne, than her apprehensions vanish. The clouds break; and she finds, as we often do with Christ, that her fears have wronged her Lord. Instantly his hand stretches out the golden sceptre; the business of the court is stopped; the queen, the queen! divides the crowd of nobles; and up that brilliant lane she walks in majesty and in charms that outvie her gems, to hear the blessed words, What wilt thou, Queen Esther? and what is thy request? it shall be given thee even to the half of the kingdom.

What wilt thou, Queen Esther? is but an echo of the voice which faith catches from the lips of Jesus; and the whole scene presents but a dim, imperfect image of that which heaven presents when the gate rolls open, and angels and archangels making way for him, a believer enters with his petitions. Was that beautiful woman once a slave? So was he. In her royal marriage was lowliness allied to majesty? So it is in his union by faith with Jesus Christ. And as to her royal apparel, the diadem, the cloth of gold bedecked with sparkling gems, in which her maids have attired their mistress, why, in the righteousness that clothes, and the graces of the Spirit that adorn him, the believer wears a robe which wins the admiration, not of men's, but angels' eyes, and shines even amid the glories of a city whose gates are made of pearls, and whose streets are paved with gold. To the half of his kingdom, the Persian promised whatever his queen might ask; and generous, right royal as was his offer, it helps us by its very meanness, as a molehill at the foot of a mountain, as a taper's feeble, yellow flame held up against the blazing sun, to form some estimate of the boundless grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. Half his kingdom? He offers nothing by halves. His promise is illimitable. All mine is thine. Confining his generosity neither to kingdoms, nor continents, nor worlds, nor heaven itself, he lays the whole universe at a poor sinner's feet. Away then with fears and cares! There is nothing we need that we shall not get—nothing we can ask that we shall not receive. It pleased the Father that in him should all fullness dwell. Transferring divine wealth, if I may so speak, to our account in the bank of heaven, and giving us an unlimited credit there, Jesus says, All things, whatsoever ye ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive.

In regard to Christ's fullness, I remark—

1. That there is all fullness of mercy to pardon in him.

Dead flies cause the ointment of the apothecary to send forth a stinking savor, so, says Solomon, doth a little folly him that is in reputation for wisdom and honor. Such great mischief can little things do. One small leak will sink the biggest ship that ever sailed the ocean; one bad link in the chain she rides by, and parting from her anchor, she is hurled on the horrid reef or driven before the fury of the tempest; and even one little wedge left carelessly on the slips arrests her progress when the signal is given, and eager crowds are waiting to cheer the launch, and the bosom of the sea is swelling to receive her into its arms. And had there been the smallest doubt expressed in the Bible about the fullness of pardoning mercy, had it not been made clear as noon-day that the blood of Christ cleanseth from all sin, from sins as well of the deepest as of the lightest dye, what a stumbling block would that have been! I believe that it would have arrested the steps of thousands now happy in Christ, or now safe in heaven, as they went to throw themselves at his feet, and cry, Lord, save us, or we perish.

But there is no such doubt. A herald of the cross, I stand here in my master's name to proclaim a universal amnesty. When the last gun is fired, and pardon is proclaimed in reconquered provinces, is it not always marked by some notable exceptions? When the sword of war is sheathed, the sword of justice is drawn, only to be returned to the scabbard after it is filled with blood. Men say that they need not look for mercy in the hour of retribution, who wreaked ruthless vengeance on helpless women, nor had pity on sweet tender babes. But from the pardon of redeeming mercy there are none excepted, unless those, who, by refusing to accept it, except themselves. Are you unjust? Christ Jesus died, the just for the unjust. Are you sinners? He came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. Are you the vilest of the vile? He never lifted his foot, when he was on this earth, to spurn the guiltiest away. He pitied whom others spurned; he received whom others rejected; he loved whom others loathed. Let the vilest, meanest, most wretched outcasts, know that they have a friend in him. A mother's door may be shut against them, but not his. It was his glory then, and it is his glory still, to be reproached as the friend of sinners. He faced contempt to save them; he endured death to save them. And are you groaning under a load of cares or guilt, of sins or sorrows, kind and gracious Lord! he says, come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.

John, the disciple whom Jesus loved, "which also leaned on his breast at supper," and lingered by his cross, and was entrusted with the care of his mother, and more than any of the others enjoyed his master's intimacy and knew his mind, says, not as one who balances his language, and carefully selects his words, lest he should compromise and commit his master too far, "if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous;" adding, "and he is the propitiation for our sins; and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world." The whole world! ah! some would say, that is dangerous language. It is God's language. It binds a zone of mercy around the world, and permits [illegible] to narrow it by a hair's breadth. Beneath his grace in Christ, as beneath that ample sky, there is room enough for all the world. None shall be sent away [illegible] but they who damn themselves. [illegible] but to make God a liar, should we doubt that our sins can be pardoned, or, we shall be pardoned, if we will but accept forgiveness. [illegible] the widest shores the vast ocean spreads, and so has the far-travelling sun [illegible]; but this promise has [illegible] within no limits of time, or age, or guilt, or class, or character, it is clogged with no conditions but [illegible].

One might fancy that now all are certain to be saved. Who will not accept of it? Offer a starving man bread, he will take it; offer a [illegible]; [illegible] Salvation, which is the one thing needful, is the only thing man will not accept. He will stoop to pick up a piece of gold out of the mire, but he will not rise out of the mire to receive a crown from heaven. What folly! What infatuation! May God by his spirit empty our hearts of pride, and take away the heart of unbelief! Vain here is the help of man. Arise, O Lord, and plead the cause that is thine own. Break the spell of sin, and help us to say with the man of old, Lord, I believe, help thou mine unbelief!

2. There is all fullness of grace to sanctify in Christ.

"My leanness! my leanness!" is a lamentation which God's people, as well as the old prophet, have often used in mourning over their spiritual condition. It may be very low, very sad; presenting the contrast of a soul famished, and a body luxuriously fed; increase of earthly, but a diminution of heavenly joys; at the year's end more money in the bank, but less grace in the heart; the tide of worldly fame flowing, and the tide of God's favor ebbing; gardens, and orchards, and woodlands, and the fields of nature, green, gay, and beautiful, but barrenness of soul within; graces withering, prayers dull, faith weak, love cold, desires feeble, spiritual appetite failing; much to alarm the saint, and send him to his knees crying, My soul cleaveth to the dust, quicken thou me according to thy word.

But why is it, why should it be so? Why burns the virgin's lamp with such a flickering flame? Why runs the stream of grace so small, shrunk to the size of a summer brook? Why are the best of us no better, no holier, no happier than we are? Hath God forgotten to be gracious? hath he in anger shut up his tender mercies? No. The supplies are not exhausted, nor is the fountain empty; nor is our Father fallen into poverty, that his children are so scantily supplied, and have to go about meanly begging a share of the world's enjoyments. It is easy to know why many poor children in this city come to have misery stamped on their young faces, and look as if they had never smiled in this world, nor found this world smiling on them; a tyrant rules at home, harsh, stern, cruel, forbidding. Hapless creatures, they wander shoeless and shivering on our frosty streets, and with hunger in their hollow cheeks, and beggary hung on their backs, they hold out their skinny hands for charity; their father is poor, or dead, or worse than dead, the base slave of a most damning vice, a drunkard, from whose imperious voice they fly, whose reeling step they tremble to hear. But what have God's children to do with unhappy looks?

God is love. Fury is not in me, saith the Lord. With him is fullness of joy and pleasures for evermore. What do you wish or want? Go tell it to your Father. They that seek the Lord shall not want any good thing. Can he who justified not sanctify? Can he who enlisted us under his holy banner not provide munitions of war enough to secure, though there may be a hard fight for it, the final victory? Can he who led the march out of Egypt not beat down our foes, and conduct our triumphant way through a thousand dangers and over a thousand difficulties on to the promised land? Oh, yes; there is all efficiency and sufficiency in Jesus Christ to crown the work of grace, and to complete what he has begun. There is his Holy Spirit to sanctify you; there are stores of grace which, like the widow's barrel that grew no emptier for all the meals it furnished, will appear the fuller the more you draw on them. As with an arch, the grace of God stands the firmer, the more weight you lay on it; its sufficiency, at least, will be the more evident; the more clearly you will see the truth of the promise, My grace is sufficient for thee. With the well ever full and ever flowing, our vessels need never be empty. Whether, therefore, you want more faith, more purity of heart or peace of mind, more light or love, a humbler or a holier spirit, a calmer or a tenderer conscience, a livelier sense of Christ's excellencies or of your own unworthiness, more tears for Christ's feet or more honors for his head, fear not to draw, to hope, to ask, too much. No earthly fortune will stand daily visits to the bank, but this will. You may ask too little, you cannot ask too much; you may go too seldom, you cannot go to often, to the throne; for in Jesus dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily.

III. There is a constant supply of pardoning and sanctifying grace in Christ.

It pleased the father that in him should all fullness dwell; dwell, not come and go, like a wayfaring man who tarrieth but a night, who is with us to-day, and away to-morrow; not like the shallow, noisy, treacherous brook that fails, when most needed, in heat of summer, but like this deep-seated spring, that rising silently though affluently at the mountain's foot, and having unseen communication with its exhaustless supplies, is ever flowing over its grassy margin, equally unaffected by the long droughts that dry the wells, and the frost that paves the neighboring lake with ice. So fail the joys of earth; so flow, supplied by the fullness that is in Christ, the pleasures and the peace of piety. It cannot be otherwise. If a man love me, says Jesus, he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him.

I have read how, in the burning desert, the skeletons of unhappy travellers, all withered and white are found, not only on the way to the fountain, but lying grim and ghastly on its banks, with their skulls stretched over its very margin. Panting, faint, their tongue cleaving to the roof of their mouth, ready to fill a cup with gold for its fill of water, they press on to the well, steering their course by the tall palms that stand full of hope above the glaring sands. Already, in fond anticipation, they drink where others had been saved. They reach it. Alas! sad sight for the dim eyes of fainting men, the well is dry. With stony horror in their looks, how they gaze into the empty basin, or fight with man and beast for some muddy drops that but exasperate their thirst. The desert reels around them. Hope expires. Some cursing, some praying, they sink, and themselves expire. And by and by the sky darkens, lightnings flash, loud thunders roll, the rain pours down, and, fed by the showers, the treacherous waters rise to play in mockery with long fair tresses, and kiss the pale lips of death.

But yonder where the cross stands up high to mark the fountain of the Savior's blood, and heaven's sanctifying grace, no dead souls lie. Once a Golgotha, Calvary has ceased to be a place of skulls. Where men went once to die, they go now to live; and to none that ever went there to seek pardon, and peace, and holiness, did God ever say, seek ye me in vain. There are times when the peace of God's people, always like a river, is like one in flood, overflowing its margin, and rolling its mighty current between bank and brae. There are times when the righteousness of God's people, always like the waves of the sea, seems like the tide at the stream, as, swelling beyond its ordinary bounds it floats the boats and ships that lie highest, driest on the beach. But at all times and seasons, faith and prayer find fullness of mercy to pardon, and of grace to sanctify, in Jesus Christ. The supply is inexhaustable.

Mountains have been exhausted of their gold, mines of their diamonds, and the depths of ocean of their pearly gems. The demand has emptied the supply. Over once busy scenes, silence and solitude now reign; the caverns ring no longer to the miner's hammer, nor is the song of the pearl-fisher heard upon the deep. But the riches of grace are inexhaustible. All that have gone before us have not made them less, and we shall make them no less to those who follow us. When we have supplied the wants of unborn millions, the last of Adam's race, that lonely man, over whose head the sun is dying, beneath whose feet the earth is reeling, shall stand by as full a fountain as this day invites you to drink and live, to wash and be clean.

I have found it an interesting thing to stand on the edge of a noble rolling river, and to think that although it has been flowing on for six thousand years, watering the fields, and slaking the thirst of a hundred generations, it shows no sign of waste or want; and when I have watched the rise of the sun, as he shot above the crest of the mountain, or in a sky draped with golden curtains, sprang up from his ocean bed, I have wondered to think that he has melted the snows of so many winters, and renewed the verdure of so many springs, and painted the flowers of so many summers, and ripened the golden harvests of so many autumns, and yet shines as brilliant as ever, his eye not dim, nor his natural strength abated, nor his floods of light less full for centuries of boundless profusion. Yet what are these but images of the fullness that is in Christ? Let that feed your hopes, and cheer your hearts, and brighten your faith, and send you away this day happy and rejoicing. For, when judgment flames have licked up that flowing stream, and the light of that glorious sun shall be quenched in darkness or veiled in the smoke of a burning world, the fullness that is in Christ shall flow on throughout eternity in the bliss of the redeemed. Blessed Savior, Image of God, divine Redeemer! in thy presence is fullness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore. What thou hast gone to heaven to prepare, may we be called up at death to enjoy.

COMMERCIAL.

Commercial and Money Matters.

FRIDAY EVENING, March 11.

MONEY, EXCHANGE, ETC.—The money market begins to feel the near approach of the opening of navigation, and rather more activity is noticed. The few pieces of produce paper that make their appearance at bank are gladly discounted. The offerings are by no means equal to the wants of bankers, and a large amount of currency still lies unemployed in their vaults. Discounts as usual 10 per cent. Exchange is close and rates steady at 1½ premium. Gold, 1½ with no demand. Street rates nominal at 1@2 per cent. per month.

Agents of Eastern capitalists are loaning freely at 10 per cent. on unincumbered and improved inside city property, interest payable semi-annually in New York city. The applications still exceed the demand and lenders are exceedingly particular and cautious as to securities. Our country readers must not infer, however, that there is any chance here for them to borrow on the same terms. Even unimproved city property, if outside of business localities, will not be accepted on scarcely any terms. The fact, however, that best business property will command money at legal rates is significant, and shows that the money market is working decidedly easier.

The Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday has the following:

The movements in financial circles to-day indicated a better supply of currency, and the leading features of the market were a shade easier. There was a full supply of good paper, however, the offerings being still somewhat in excess of the demand, and rates of interest are firmly maintained at 10@12 per cent.

The market continues to be meagerly supplied with Eastern Exchange, and dealers to-day were quite strict in confining their sales to regular customers, and whenever this rule was relaxed, advanced rates were charged. We heard of sales by one house of $15,000, on New York, at ½ prem., and other transactions were reported at the same figure. The regular rate for bankers' checks remained at ⅜ prem., but the indications are that in the event of no uniform advance, we shall have two or three rates, ranging from ⅜ to ½ prem. Dealers bought at 20 to 37½. For New York 33@35 was quite freely paid. The rate in outside circles is ⅜ prem., and bills sell as before at ½ prem. for 30 days, and ⅜ to ½ dis. for 60 days. We quote:

	BUYING.	SELLING.
New York Sight	⅜@35 prem.	½@¾ prem.
American Gold	⅜ prem.	⅜@37 prem.

The St. Louis Democrat of Thursday morning says:

We have no change whatever to report in money matters. Eastern and New Orleans Exchange continue scarce at 1 per cent., for bankable funds. Currency is in moderate supply, and bought at ½@¾ per cent. discount.

This makes the price of Exchange in St. Louis the same as in this city.

We take the following article from the Springfield Journal of yesterday morning:

IMPORTANT SUIT UNDER THE GENERAL BANKING LAW.

A question involving the rights of bill-holders under the General Banking Law of the State, and going in a good degree toward testing the entire merits of the system, has lately arisen, and is now awaiting argument in our State Courts. It appears that Messrs. Wadham and Hough, as agents of J. M. Adsit and Elisha Willard, of Chicago, presented to the "Bank of the Republic" and "E. I. Tinkham & Co.'s Bank," at McLeansboro, a considerable amount of the notes of those banks, and demanded specie therefor. The officers pretended to be willing to cash the notes, but they did it in so slow and dilatory a manner that it would have taken perhaps months to have gotten through with the count, their business hours continuing only from 10 A. M. to 12 M., and from 2 P. M. to 3 P. M. Besides, the Banks insisted upon paying out only small silver coin issued under the act of Congress of 1853, or in mixed pieces of different issues; nor is there any proof or any allegation that both or either of said banks had sufficient coin of any kind to pay the amount of the notes of said banks presented by Wadham and Hough.

Under these circumstances the bills of those banks were protested, and the protests were filed with the Auditor, who accordingly gave notice to said banks, to pay the amount in ten days as required by law. Thereupon the banks made application to A. Campbell, Esq., Master in Chancery, for an injunction restraining the Auditor from proceeding under the Banking Law against them—alleging, among other things, that they had a right to pay their bills in the silver coin issued under the act of 1853; and further that the amendments to the Banking Law of the State, under which the Auditor was acting, are unconstitutional because they were not submitted to a vote of the people. The Master, without giving any opinion on these points, thought they were of sufficient consequence to be submitted to the Courts for adjudication, and therefore granted the injunction, and the bill was then filed in the Circuit Court of Sangamon County.

It may be out of place to state that up to the present time both these banks have acted under the amendments to the Banking Law, which they now claim to be unconstitutional; and at least one of them has received notes from the Auditor under the amended act of 1857. Both banks are owned by the same person.

In regard to the other points presented, the language of the act of Congress is that "the silver coin issued in conformity with the above section, shall be legal tender in payment of debts for all sums not exceeding five dollars." By the previous law, the weight of the half dollar was 206¼ grains of silver; by the act of 1853 it was reduced to 192 grains of silver and other coins under fifty cents were proportionably reduced. The banks take the ground that every $5 bill, or five $1 bills make a debt, no matter what may be the amount of bills presented; and that although these small silver coins would not be a good tender for a $10 bill, it is for any number of $5 bills.

The question here in issue, it will be perceived, is of great general interest, affecting the rights of every bill-holder of the various free banks of the State; while the Constitutional point raised will essentially test the validity of the safeguards to our Banking System, which the Legislature has found to be necessary to enact, in order to keep the banks within proper check and control.

Messrs. Stuart and Edwards are attorneys for the relators, and Messrs. Lincoln and Herndon for the banks.

COMMERCIAL.—The Wheat market opened rather dull, and buyers insisted on a decline. Holders, however, were firm, and the sales on 'Change were very limited, while in the afternoon the market stiffened, and an advance of 1@2c gained on the morning's prices. Sales did not exceed 9,000 bu at the following range: No. 1 Red, $1 28—4c storage—@$1 28—2c storage; No. 2 Red, $1.15—4c storage@1.18—2c storage; Standard Spring, $1.01—2c storage; No. 2 Spring, 90@92c—4c storage; Old Rejected, 85c—4c storage. Market closing very firm in the evening.

The offerings of Flour were small, and market is steady, with sales of about 700 bbls at $5.12½@5 30 for common to fine Spring Extras, and $4 12½ for low grade Superfine.

Corn firm but quiet, with sales of Shelled on track, at 72@73c per 60 lbs; Ear, 66c per 70 lbs on track. There is considerable inquiry for Corn for future delivery, but buyers and sellers cannot agree—asking 75c f. o. b.; offering, 70@71c f. o. b. Oats duller, with considerable offering. Rye and Barley unchanged. Provisions dull. Some small lots of Shoulders and Hams were sold at $5 85@$7.85 packed, and a small lot of Clear Pork at $18.25. Lard quiet. Tallow firmer, with a sale of lot of 10 bbls prime at 11c. Hides unchanged. Seeds quiet, and Clover duller. Timothy in fair request for prime—very little of which is offering.

ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN CANAL.

The Superintendent of the Illinois and Michigan Canal has given notice that on and after the 17th inst. the Canal will be opened for boats drawing four feet four inches water.

At Milwaukee, yesterday, the Sentinel says:

There was a perceptibly downward tendency in the flour market to day, and we understand that spring extras were offered to-day at a reduction of 5 to 10 cents on our last quotations without finding purchasers. No transactions of any account have taken place, so that we cannot give quotations. Sellers were generally asking previous prices, but buyers were apparently out of the market.

With very light receipts, the wheat market opened with a more buoyant feeling, and some 4,000 bushels No. 1 spring sold at $1.08 in store, and 8,000 bushels at $1 12½ free on board. A small quantity of No. 2 sold at 95c, and several lots of extra No. 1 went at $1.16@1 22; while the millers took a few car loads of extra club at $1 25@1 28.

The Cincinnati Markets of the 10th are thus reviewed by the Gazette:

Some business was transacted in provisions to-day, with a fair demand at previous figures, which holders were still unwilling to accept. The sales included 800 bbls. Mess Pork at $17.50; 150 hhds Bacon Sides at 9c; 30 do do Shoulders at 7c, and 400 tierces Lard at 11½c. The asking rates are generally $17.75@$18 for best brands of Mess Pork; 7½@7½c, and 9½@9¾c for Bacon Shoulders and Sides, and 11½c for prime barrel Lard. There would be a demand for bulk meat if holders would accept 6@6½c for Shoulders and Sides. The asking rates are 6½@8c—the latter for light Sides; heavy would bring 8½c.

Flour was dull at $5 90@6 for Superfine. We have no quotable change to quote in grain.

Whisky declined ½c with sales at 24c. The stock is heavy, and hence this drooping tendency notwithstanding the high figures maintained for Corn.

Nothing done in Groceries in the large way, and the market must still be reported quite dull. The jobbing trade is moderately active. A lot of 6,000 slop Hogs sold for delivery in this month, April and May, at $6 per 100 lbs. gross.

Chicago Daily Wholesale Market.

FRIDAY EVENING, March 11, 1859.

Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago Line of SCREW STEAMERS.
ON THE OPENING OF LAKE NAVIGATION the Proprietors of this Line will put on the route from Buffalo to Chicago, Seven First Class A 1 screw Steamers, of great strength and speed.
Forming a Tri-Weekly Line,
And running in connection at Buffalo with the NEW YORK CENTRAL R. R., and the MERCHANTS' CENTRAL LINE OF CANAL BOATS, on the Erie Canal, and at Cleveland with the CLEVELAND & PITTSBURGH RAILROAD, touching at Detroit, Mackinac, Sheboygan, Port Washington, Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha and Waukegan.
This Line is now prepared to issue contracts and give through receipts for property destined to Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo and all way stations on the N. Y. Central, Western and Boston and Worcester Railroads, and principal places on the Line of the Erie Canal, Albany, Troy, Boston, New York and Pittsburgh, and from those places to Sheboygan, Port Washington, Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Waukegan and Chicago.
The liberal patronage extended to the Line the past season by the traveling public, has induced the Proprietors to greatly increase their accommodation for passengers, and those desiring a cheap, safe and comfortable route, will find it by taking this line.
Insurance on property shipped by this line can be obtained at a less rate than by any other, it having within the two past seasons transported property to an amount exceeding sixteen million dollars in value without any loss.
With these unequalled facilities, the proprietors hope to receive a liberal patronage.

JOHN L. KIMBERLY, President.
FRANKLIN LEE, Vice President.
JAMES C. EVANS, Sec'y and Treas'r.
ON THE OPENING OF NAVIGATION this company will be prepared to transport Property, Merchandise, &c., from New York, Boston, Albany and Troy to any of the Western cities. Also, Flour, Provisions, Produce, &c., from any of the Lake Ports to tide water, with as great care and dispatch, and at as low rates as by any other responsible line, at the same time giving through bills of lading for all property when desired.
This Company have a line of eight staunch Propellers, to ply between Buffalo and Chicago, touching en route at Sheboygan, Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha and Waukegan. Having at Chicago ample facilities and warehouse accommodations for the reception, assorting and shipping of all articles entrusted to their care, which will be under the direction of their Agent, who will give his personal attention to the fulfillment of contracts, adjustment of claims and damages.
As our Company have a large line of Canal Boats on the Erie Canal, and are about to establish a line of Steam Canal Boats also, we feel warranted in representing to our numerous customers, that they can rely upon greater dispatch and at less rates than has heretofore been given. We, therefore, ask the public to continue the patronage so liberally bestowed upon us during the past four years.

Steam Ferry from Council Bluffs to Omaha City
NEBRASKA, NO. 1.
THIS BOAT HAS THE CAPACITY TO carry 12 Wagons and Teams at each trip, and has taken over at one load 300 head of Cattle, and she can make 40 crossings or more each way in a day, and will be able to ferry over from four to five hundred wagons and teams from sunrise to sunset each day.
We assure travellers, who are going to the Nebraska Gold Mines,
Utah, California, Oregon and Washington Territories, that the roads from Fairfield, Iowa City, Dubuque, and points intermediate, by Council Bluffs and Omaha City, and up the north side of the Platte river, are better, nearer, and more abundantly stocked with wagons, horses, mules and cattle, provisions and goods, than any other. And with the settlements and towns, and the regular and well-established line of Mail Coaches already extending to Fort Kearney and soon to be extended all the way to the mines, it is no longer a wilderness route through an Indian country, but can be traversed as safely and comfortably and much more easily than any of the roads through Missouri or Iowa.
There is not the same length of road in the United States, so level and entirely without marshes, sloughs or bad places and so nearly straight. The streams on the north side of the Platte are all bridged, except the Loup Fork, and here the Western Stage Company have a good Ferry.

W. M. FERRY JR PATENT
WROWLAND

TO LUMBERMEN!

MONEY SAVED IN MANUFACTURE IS MONEY MADE!

All Persons Engaged in the Manufacture of Lumber in any way
Will Find it to their Interest to Examine one of WM. M. FERRY, JR.'S, PATENT AUTOMATIC CIRCULAR SAWING MILLS!
AT ONCE.

PATENTED July 21, 1857. PATENT RE-ISSUED April 6, 1858. ADDITIONAL IMPROVEMENT PATENTED May 4, 1858, since which time sales have been very large.

THE LOG MILLS

Will Saw all kinds of Lumber from any kind of Log up to 28 or 30 feet long; or, with Double Carriage, 50 to 60 feet; using a Saw 3½ to 6 feet in diametre according to size of Logs to be cut.

THE SIDING MILLS

Will saw beautifully all kinds of Siding, Fencing, Flooring, Scantling, &c., &c., from Cants 12 to 20 feet long.

Both these Mills are AUTOMATIC, or SELF OPERATIVE, or can easily be worked by hand without any change or alteration in their construction: are the most simple and seldom get out of repair. They are made to Wear—warranted durable and substantial—for Year in and Year out. The Saw Frames are of Iron entire: the Carriage and all are made to endure heavy work, to insure accuracy and durability. The Patentee has been a

PRACTICAL MANUFACTURER OF LUMBER

for the past Thirteen Years, and now offers the result of his labors and experience to those who wish to avail themselves of the benefits, claiming that Lumbermen are here offered the now before the public. Also claiming and ready to prove that the LOG MILL will perform more than Three Times the work of a Muley Mill with the expense of One.

ONLY RELIABLE SAWING MILLS

The SIDING MILL will perform from ¼ to ½ more work than any Siding Mill ever known. The per cent. clean profit these Mills will make over the above estimates of work will be, as will be seen at once by a practical man, much greater from the fact that the expense of running, less hands employed, and next to nothing for repairs, are items in the manufacture of Lumber that eat up the profits to an alarming extent if not watched. These Mills attend to these items in person: thus augment the profit of the manufacture.

The above Engraving represents the Siding Mill correctly. It is well to state that these mills are not dependent upon the mere statement of Mr. Ferry, the Inventor. They have been used by many, and thoroughly tested in all respects, and are recommended by all far above any Mills in the United States. We have room but for a few of the many flattering testimonials coming from high and responsible parties.

From Manufacturers.

The undersigned, Manufacturers of Lumber, having had in use William M. Ferry Jr's Patent Siding Mills, do hereby testify to their excellence above all other kinds we have seen in operation.

The difficulties heretofore experienced in the use of other kinds of Self-setting Mills have been their liability to get out of repair, making the manufacture of lumber more expensive and the inaccuracy of thickness in lumber manufacture subjecting us to the loss of good material—as Culls. By the use of Ferry's Mills, their simplicity and the strength and workmanlike manner of their construction does away with "tinkering," and they are reliable for work. These Mills, with his late improvements, are the only accurate setting Mills to uniform thickness that we have ever used or seen in operation, and we recommend them from our own knowledge and experience to be the best and most profitable Mills we know of. The patentee's experience as a Lumberman has doubtless called his attention to what we have heretofore so much needed, and we are confident, all using his Mills will agree with us in the expression above given.

From Practical Sawyers.

The undersigned are practical Sawyers, and having used and seen in use other kinds of Circular Saw Mills, we prefer those of Wm. M. Ferry, Jr's Patent above all others.

We can cut more lumber with them in the same time than with any of the other kinds heretofore in use, for these reasons: The care of but one belt in Ferry's Machines takes the place of keeping in repair complicated machinery and a greater number of belts as in all other machines we have seen, taking up more or less time every day in "tinkering." The Arbor is of Cast Steel, and all the work connected therewith is finished in such a manner that we are not troubled with journals that heat to the damage of the Saw and detention of the Mill. All the work is strong, simple, and convenient. We can alter the range of the Saw instantly and without stopping the mill, for different qualities of Timber, or as different Saws may need, without heating or having any tendency to heat the Arbor or the Saw. The convenience of the "dogs" for holding "cants" on these Mills is very great. The "dogs" hold a cant firmly, even in frosty timber, and the peculiar "head dog" does away with the use of a "mill bar." The experience of all mill owners and Sawyers is that the "mill bar" is the cause of more accidents than anything else. The facility of fitting the carriage for receiving and cutting different length cants is unequalled.

We hear no complaints of irregular thickness in the lumber from Ferry's Mills. We take pleasure therefore, in recommending these Mills as the HANDIEST and BEST we have ever seen.

From Lumber Inspectors.

We, the undersigned, Lumber Inspectors of the city of Chicago, being frequently employed in the inspection of lumber manufactured from William M. Ferry, Jr.'s Patent Siding Mills, would hereby testify to the accuracy and perfect manufacture of the lumber sawed by said mills.

Want of uniformity of thickness is a prevailing complaint among purchasers of lumber, and the satisfaction which, in this particular, inevitably follows the sale of lumber cut from said mills is the surest indication that a degree of perfection has been attained in their construction and operation that place them unequalled by any other mill known to us. The work from them is the best recommendation they need for perfect, practical and successful machines.

We take pleasure in commending Ferry's Improved Mills to general use.

From Dealers.

We, the undersigned, Lumber Dealers in the city of Chicago, having handled and sold more or less lumber manufactured from William M. Ferry, Jr.'s Patent Siding Mills, take pleasure in hereby certifying that lumber manufactured from said Ferry's Improved Mills is of uniform thickness, smooth and accurately sawed, and in this respect preferable to lumber manufactured by any other self-setting mill with which we are acquainted. The importance of having evenly sawed lumber for a successful trade is so essential and so generally known that comment in this regard is unnecessary. The best and most reliable recommendation we can offer for said mills is the uniformity of satisfaction which lumber manufactured therefrom gives to our numerous customers. We therefore unhesitatingly commend Ferry's Mills to general use as the most perfect self-setting machine known to us and the best adapted to the wants of the lumber trade.

AND HUNDREDS MORE IF NECESSARY

In ordering a machine, it is necessary to know whether you want a Left hand or a Right hand machine, as the carriages are so constructed as to offset from the saw in running back, to prevent heating the saw or scratching the Lumber, and for the reason that in some mills it is desirable to have the circular mill in a given position relatively to the log way or to the upright saw and other the reverse, as convenience requires. We must know what hand mill is wanted as left offset boxes cannot be used on a right hand, or right on a left hand mill. A sketch of the sawing floor, with the position of log slide, lumber slides and saw or saws already in the mill, will give me data to send the kind wanted, or the one ordering the mill can do so himself by his observation and attention to the following: Standing behind the circular saw, facing it, if the carriage passes at your right hand it is a right hand machine; if at your left hand, it is a left hand machine. The millwright will readily see that if an upright saw is placed between two machines, of the same hand, then the one of them the cants will have to swing over the carriage from the back part of it, and the other will receive cants, as it should, from the face side or side that the saw and saw frame are on. The mills can be used either way, but the convenience and facility of putting on logs or cants and getting rid of the lumber, is quite an item in mills doing a large business.

The weight of Siding Mill, complete, is about 3,000 lbs.
" Log Mills is from 4,000 to 4,500 lbs.

I keep on hand, at all times, the above Mills ready to ship from my dock to any port on the Lakes, or to any point in the United States or Canada, and if required, send a man to put them up and give instructions about their operation.
